Understanding Financial Accounting Christopher D. Burnley, 2022-01-10 Understanding Financial Accounting 3rd Canadian Edition presents a fresh approach to teaching introductory financial accounting through a blended conceptual and technical perspective that demonstrates how to apply course information to students everyday lives and future careers To develop a deeper understanding of course concepts students work through high quality assessment at varying levels helping them learn more efficiently and create connections between topics and real world application There are also a variety of hands on Excel and data analytics activities that help students learn how to solve business problems within the accounting context With Understanding Financial Accounting students will remain engaged on track and develop the key skills they need for future academic and career success

Inside Accounting David Leung, 2016-05-23 Based on a study covering a one year financial reporting cycle at a commercial subsidiary of a well known scientific research organization Inside Accounting examines how accountants and non accounting managers construct their company s earnings Addressing issues in both internal management accounting such as budgeting performance evaluation and control as well as external financial accounting such as book keeping monthly year end accounts and auditing David Leung focuses on how people classify transactions make professional judgments and use computer software for accounting and prepare for and facilitate the auditing process He also looks at accountancy training and the impact of people s affiliations to the accounting profession or other professions on their accounting and on their perceptions of financial statements Other contingent or contextual factors that influence the choice of accounting method such as time pressure reward structures management authority and institutions are also considered David Leung s research employs an innovative blend of theory and practice that redresses the imbalance between ethnographic studies of financial accounting and management accounting and helps close the gap between the academic curriculum and the experiences of practitioners His research leads the author to conclude that no act of accounting classification is ever indefeasibly correct that the accounting community s institutions and authority are central to the accounting process and to the truth and fairness of accounting numbers that accounting training involves extensive use of learning by doing and that both accountants and non accounting managers have goals and interests that often result in no better than good enough accounting This book will appeal to accounting and finance professionals and academics in finance as well as to sociologists and academic researchers interested in research methods and science studies
