Rethinking American History in a Global Age Thomas Bender, 2002-05-14 In rethinking and reframing the American national narrative in a wider context the contributors to this volume ask questions about both nationalism and the discipline of history itself The essays offer fresh ways of thinking about the traditional themes and periods of American history By locating the study of American history in a transnational context they examine the history of nation making and the relation of the United States to other nations and to transnational developments What is now called globalization is here placed in a historical context A cast of distinguished historians from the United States and abroad examines the historiographical implications of such a reframing and offers alternative interpretations of large questions of American history ranging from the era of European contact to democracy and reform from environmental and economic development and migration experiences to issues of nationalism and identity But the largest issue explored is basic to all histories How does one understand teach and write a national history even as one recognizes that the territorial boundaries do not fully contain that history and that within that bounded territory the society is highly differentiated marked by multiple solidarities and identities Rethinking American History in a Global Age advances an emerging but important conversation marked by divergent voices many of which are represented here The various essays explore big concepts and offer historical narratives that enrich the content and context of American history The aim is to provide a history that more accurately reflects the dimensions of American experience and better connects the past with contemporary concerns for American identity structures of power and world presence The Timetables of American History Laurence Urdang, 2001-12-04 Stretching from the arrival of Christopher Columbus in 1492 to the state of affairs in America in the year 2000 these timetables present a panoramic perspective on the nation's significant events of the second millennium Line drawings throughout

Congressional Record United States. Congress, 2000 Jewish Community of Solano County Rachel Raskin-Zrihen, Rachel Rae Moncharsh-Lessem and Shoshana Deutscher-Nurik, 2014 This book contains images and stories of some of the Jews who have impacted Solano County It is not a record of every Jew to pass this way some of whom may have come intending to shed their Jewish identity by changing their names or converting Wonderful stories emerged about extraordinary people who made their marks here with few suspecting their Jewish roots yet they were traceable often because in death they chose to reclaim their heritage Others came to live as Jews and built an enduring community The story within these pages travels from the Old World to the edge of Gold Country where there lives a tenacious though often invisible Jewish community Civil Liberties in American History Kermit Hall, Kermit L. Hall, 1987 Regulae Iuris in the Medieval and Modern Age, 2025-10-13 This volume is the first anthology to address the topic of the regulae iuris or maxims of law from a uniform methodological point of view It approaches the regulae iuris as a dynamic system with an ever evolving structure The contributors of this volume being among the leading experts in the field look at the regulae both in their essence and in their expanding interrelationships taking account of their changing social and cultural contexts This volume places the crystallisation and evolution of legal rules within a history of ideas spanning a wide historical period and going beyond the narrow confines of the history of legal thought Contributors are Ilya A Kotlyar Adolfo Giuliani Maria Kola David Deroussin Piotr Alexandrowicz Ger Coffey Harry Dondorp Emanuel G D van Dongen and James R Gordley

Philosophy of Education in Action David W. Nicholson, 2016-01-13 Philosophy of Education in Action is an innovative inquiry based introductory text that invites readers to study philosophy of education through the lens of their own observations and experiences Structured according to a Wonder Model of Inquiry each chapter begins by posing a fundamental What if question about curriculum pedagogy and the role of the school before investigating the various philosophical perspectives that guide and influence educational practices Classroom vignettes and examples of actual schools and educational programs help to ground philosophical perspectives in real world scenarios while the book's unique inquiry based approach leads students to both think critically about philosophical questions and apply the concepts to their own teaching Features of the text include What if questions that structure each chapter to pique students curiosity stimulate creativity and promote critical thinking Authentic classroom vignettes that encourage students to analyze what it means to do philosophy and to reflect upon their own practices examine their role in the educational process and articulate their own philosophical beliefs A concluding section asking readers to imagine and design their own hypothetical school or classroom as a project based means of analyzing synthesizing and evaluating the different philosophies discussed Accessible and thought provoking Philosophy of Education in Action provides a dynamic learning experience for readers to understand and apply philosophy in educational practice Earth Sciences History, 1982 The ^AOrigins of American Religious Nationalism Sam Haselby, 2016-11-01 By identifying a historic fight within Anglo American Protestantism and how it related to major contemporary political developments in the early American republic Sam Haselby explains the origins of the distinct language and means of combining political and religious authority that characterizes American nationalism Energy Capitol Arthur Mason, 2024-11-04 Energy Capitol explores the waning of regulatory politics surrounding large scale energy systems in the United States at the turn of the millennium Throughout the twentieth century large scale energy systems in North America and Europe were highly regulated by a national political community whose decision making authority relied on positions of bureaucratic and capitalist led industry organization After restructuring in energy markets such as natural gas and electricity during the 1980s the culture of power surrounding political decision making began to decline Against this backdrop Arthur Mason examines the struggle by oil companies and federal state agencies to deliver natural gas from Alaska and Canada's Mackenzie Valley to markets in midcontinental United States highlighting regulatory collusion to advance their plans Mason employs perspectives from anthropology political science sociology and science and technology studies to analyze ethnographic data gathered at the Alaska State Legislature and in the Office of the Alaska Governor in Washington D

C The focus is primarily on plans for building an estimated 20 billion 3 500 mile pipeline to transport natural gas from the North American Arctic to midcontinental pipeline infrastructure in the United States By illuminating key aspects of federal state political decision making processes on energy transportation infrastructure Mason highlights the activities of economists lawyers and other regulatory intellectuals whose accumulated work impedes Arctic proposals through a reliance on judgments that no longer reflect the conditions in which large scale projects are increasingly determined Written by a leading expert in the field this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of energy policy environmental politics governance and regulation and risk It will also be relevant to industry professionals working in environmental NGOs and government departments in energy and climate forecasting
