International Handbook of Research in Medical Education Geoffrey R. Norman, Cees P.M. van der Vleuten, D.I. Newble, 2012-12-06. GEOFF NORMAN, McMaster University, Hamilton, Canada; CEES VAN DER VLEUTEN, University of Maastricht, Netherlands; DAVID NEWBLE, University of Sheffield, England. The International Handbook of Research in Medical Education is a review of current research findings and contemporary issues in health sciences education. The orientation is toward research evidence as a basis for informing policy and practice in education. Although most of the research findings have accrued from the study of medical education, the handbook will be useful to teachers and researchers in all health professions and others concerned with professional education. The handbook comprises 33 chapters organized into six sections: Research Traditions; Learning; The Educational Continuum; Instructional Strategies; Assessment; and Implementing the Curriculum. The research orientation of the handbook will make the book an invaluable resource to researchers and scholars and should help practitioners to identify research to place their educational decisions on a sound empirical footing.

THE FIELD OF RESEARCH IN MEDICAL EDUCATION. The discipline of medical education began in North America more than thirty years ago with the founding of the first office in medical education at Buffalo, New York, by George Miller in the early 1960s. Soon after, large offices were established in medical schools in Chicago, University of Illinois, Los Angeles, University of Southern California, and Lansing, Michigan State University. All these first-generation offices mounted master's level programs in medical education, and many of their graduates went on to found offices at other schools.
