Resources in Education ,1998 Resources in Education ,1995 Learning to Teach with Assessment Heng Jiang,2015-01-02 This ethnography asks the question what does learning to teach mean to student teachers and to those around them in an exam driven rural school in China The author writes of the process of using the assessment as a tool for teacher learning understanding disadvantaged students in the community of practice and of beginning teachers seeking their identities She offers a perspective of learning to teach with assessment instead of for assessment and examines how it shapes the learn to teach experiences Unschooling To University Judy L. Arnall,2018-09-21 School is one option for education homeschooling is the second and unschooling is the third Many parents are frustrated by the school system perhaps because of bullying crowded classrooms and outdated dull online courses Disengaged learners that have no say in their coerced curriculum tend to act out tune out or drop out Education must change and unschooling is the fastest growing alternative method of learning Two decades ago students registered with their local school based on their house address Now with the internet students are borderless Learning can occur anywhere anytime anyway and from anyone including self taught Self directing their education unschoolers learn through Play Projects Reading Volunteering Video games Sports Mentorship Travel Life This book explores the path of 30 unschooled children who self directed all or part of their education and were accepted by universities colleges and other postsecondary schools Most have already graduated What children need most are close relationships parents teachers siblings relatives coaches and mentors within a wider community not just within an institutional school Educational content is everywhere Caring relationships are not Families that embrace unschooling do not have to choose between a quality education and a relaxed connected family lifestyle They can have both Master Mathematics Teachers Zhenzhen Miao,Christian Bokhove,David Reynolds,2023-08-21 This practical guide invites teachers to take a journey towards masterly mathematics teaching using the experiences and lessons learnt across five Chinese provinces Anhui Beijing Jiangsu Jiangxi and Tianjin On this journey you will gain a thorough understanding of 1 the quality and characteristics of master mathematics teachers teaching 2 the quality of mathematics learning they have nurtured amongst their students in affective metacognitive and cognitive dimensions and 3 the teaching learning mechanisms that underpin excellent performance in the three dimensions Alongside the quantitative and qualitative evidence on educational excellence you will also delve deep into the trajectories and processes of professional development that generate professional excellence amongst master mathematics teachers and their peers within and across primary schools up and down China Building on data collected with 70 master mathematics teachers and 3 178 students and from teaching research events at the school municipal provincial and national levels the Master Mathematics Teachers MasterMT project is to date the first that has looked at the legendary tribe of master mathematics teachers in China at such a large scale and with such breadth and depth The book offers invaluable insights for any teacher or teacher educator who wants to improve mathematics teaching and learning and generate educational and professional excellence in primary schools and beyond More information on the Master Mathematics Teachers MasterMT project can be accessed at <https://mastermt.org>

Thinking Rationally in an Irrational World Alex Burdeshaw, 2017-02-28 Have you ever been involved in a contentious fruitless discussion about politics, science or current events with a coworker, friend or family member? Thinking Rationally in an Irrational World by author Alex Burdeshaw explores why those conversations get so contentious and he offers easily applicable ways to make such talks less tense and more fruitful for everyone involved. Burdeshaw discusses the major factors that exacerbate a person's lack of rational critical thinking skills. He offers a variety of culprits including the flawed education system, poor dietary and exercise habits, the hyperpolarization and groupthink mentalities of the media, and the collective lack of well-trained interpersonal skills. In Thinking Rationally in an Irrational World, Burdeshaw proposes possible solutions to combat each of these identified areas.

It consists of seven chapters as follows: Chapter 1 describes Chinese long history and CCP Chinese Communism Party influence on Chinese education; Chapter 2 talks about Chinese students and their attitudes on study and life; Chapter 3 describes Chinese professors who are the main driving force behind the quality of the education; Chapter 4 shows the organization and hierarchy in Chinese university; Chapter 5 shows the rank of Chinese universities in academic programs; Chapter 6 describes a Chinese student who experienced the childhood and education in China; Chapter 7 summarizes the status and future of Chinese higher education.

The Routledge International Handbook of Creative Learning Julian Sefton-Green, Pat Thomson, Ken Jones, Liora Bresler, 2011-07-15 The concept of creative learning extends far beyond Arts-based learning or the development of individual creativity. It covers a range of processes and initiatives throughout the world that share common values, systems and practices aimed at making learning more creative. This applies at individual classroom or whole school level, always with the aim of fully realising young people's potential. Until now, there has been no single text bringing together the significant literature that explores the dimensions of creative learning, despite the work of artists in schools and the development of a cadre of creative teaching and learning specialists. Containing a mixture of newly commissioned chapters, reprints and updated versions of previous publications, this book brings together major theorists and current research. Comprising key readings in creative education, it will stand as a uniquely authoritative text that will appeal to those involved in initial and continuing teacher education, as well as research, academics and policy specialists. Sections include a general introduction to the field of creative learning; arts learning traditions with sub-sections on discrete art forms such as drama and visual art; accounts of practice from artist-teacher partnerships; whole-school change and reforms; curriculum change; assessment; evaluative case studies of impact and effect; global studies of policy change around creative learning.
