Reintroduction Biology
 John G. Ewen, Doug P. Armstrong, Kevin A. Parker, Philip J. Seddon, 2012-01-30. This book aims to further advance the field of reintroduction biology beyond the considerable progress made since the formation of the IUCN SSC Reintroduction Specialist Group. Using an issue-based framework that purposely avoids a structure based on case studies, the book's central theme is advocating a strategic approach to reintroduction where all actions are guided by explicit theoretical frameworks based on clearly defined objectives. Issues covered include husbandry and intensive management, monitoring, and genetic and health management. Although taxonomically neutral, there is a recognised dominance of bird and mammal studies that reflects the published research in this field. The structure and content are designed for use by people wanting to bridge the research management gap, such as conservation managers wanting to expand their thinking about reintroduction-related decisions, or researchers who seek to make useful applied contributions to reintroduction.

They are intensely interesting to zoologists and uniquely intriguing to the general public. Devoted primarily to terrestrial carnivores, this volume focuses on such themes as carnivore reintroduction programs and the ethics of studying carnivores, drawing examples from a variety of species. The need to evaluate new conceptual ideas and empirical data inspired this volume.

Conservation of Endangered Species in Captivity
 Edward F. Gibbons Jr., Barbara S. Durrant, Jack Demarest, 1995-08-31. This multi-disciplinary approach to conservation of endangered species in captivity is organized taxonomically and by scientific discipline. The seven taxonomic groups included are invertebrates, fish, reptiles and amphibians, birds, marine mammals, primates, and other mammals. Within each taxonomic group, four scientific disciplines are explored: conservation, reproductive physiology, behavior, and captive design. Conservation chapters summarize the status of the taxonomic group both in the wild and in captivity. Reviewed in the reproductive physiology chapters are anatomy, endocrinology, and physiology for females and males of the taxonomic group. In the section on behavior, the functions of captive animal research, the methods used, and the problems encountered are discussed. And in examining captive design, the authors provide a general historical outline of the philosophies, trends, and scientific issues for the targeted taxonomic group.
