14september Paperlif E Sciences Memo:

Respectably Catholic and Scientific Alexander Pavuk, 2021-09-24 Respectfully Catholic and Scientific traces the unexpected manner in which several influential liberal progressive Catholics tried to shape how evolution and birth control were framed and debated in the public square in the era between the World Wars and the unintended consequences of their efforts. A small but influential cadre of Catholic priests professionally trained in social sciences Frs John Montgomery Cooper John A Ryan and John A O'Brien gained a hearing from mainline public intellectuals largely by engaging in dialogue on these topics using the lingua franca of the age science to the near exclusion of religious argumentation. The Catholics' approach was more than just tactical. It also derived from the subtle influence of Catholic theological Modernism with its strong enthusiasm for science and from an inclination toward scientism inherited from the Progressive Era's social science milieu. All three shared a fervent desire to translate the Catholic ethos as they understood it into the vocabulary of the modern age while circumventing anti-Catholic attitudes in the process. However, their method resulted in a series of unintended consequences whereby their arguments were not infrequently co-opted and used against both them and the institutional church they served. Alexander Pavuk considers the complex role of both liberal religious figures and scientific elites in evolution and birth control discourse and how each contributed in unexpected ways to the reconstruction of those topics in public culture. The reconstruction saw the topics themselves shift from matters considered largely within moral frameworks into bodies of knowledge.

Committee on Government Operations, 1959 Considers 86 S 586 86 S 676 The Moot Papers Keith Clements, 2015-02-26 The Moot was the study and discussion group set by J H Oldham 1874 1969 following the 1937 Oxford conference on Church, Community and State. Its purpose was to continue in an informal but serious way exploration of the relation between church and society and the realization of Christian ethics in the public sphere. The Moot met twice or three times a year from 1938 to 1947 21 times in all and was convened by Oldham with the conscious intention of responding to the grave crisis that was felt to be facing western society in Britain no less than on the continent of Europe. Overall, some 35 people attended the Moot at one time or another but its core comprised a small number of regular members who were representative of the highest levels in theology, social science and public affairs. In addition to Oldham himself, they included T S Eliot, H A Hodges, Eleonora Iredale, Adolf L. Weir, Karl Mannheim, Walter Moberly, John Middleton Murry and Alec Vidler. Other participants included Kathleen Bliss, Fred Clarke, Christopher Dawson, H H Farmer, Hector Hetherington, Walter Oakshott and Gilbert Shaw, while notables such as Reinhold Niebuhr, Melville Channing Pearce, Donald McKinnon, Philip Mairet, Leslie Newbiggin, William Paton, Frank Pakenham, later Lord Longford, Michael Polanyi and Oliver Tomkins made occasional guest appearances. Against the background of impending and then actual war, the discussions in the Moot repeatedly focused on the planned nature of modern society and therewith the roles if any within it of moral choice and
