Symposium on Breeding for Diversification Jelena Bačanović-Šišić, Dominic Dennenmoser, Maria R.

Finckh, 2018-02-26 We are very happy that in this symposium researchers from a multitude of countries around the world are coming together in order to discuss issues about breeding for intra and inter specific diversity as well for annuals as for perennials. The submitted abstracts show that the activities are far wider than just the cereals that are covered by the EU directive and that there will be a need to expand the activities on the legal side. Biostimulants and Biotechnological Approaches in Challenging Climates Günter Neumann, Fahim Nawaz, Markus

Weinmann, Vicent Arbona, Raffaella Balestrini, Chiara Pagliarini, Miguel Gonzalez-Guzman, 2025-01-07 In the face of climate change agricultural and horticultural systems are encountering challenges related to resource availability, agrochemical restrictions and production costs. The use of biostimulants as plant strengtheners and green biotechnological strategies offers potential solutions. However, there are limitations to their field application making it crucial to bridge the gap between lab research and practical implementation. Meanwhile, the need for safe and environmentally friendly practices to ensure sustainable food production in challenging climates is growing. This Research Topic aims to explore the field application of biostimulants and novel biotechnological approaches for enhancing crop productivity and stress tolerance. We invite authors to submit research papers on the application of biostimulants in cropping systems under field conditions including arable and permanent crops. Advanced application technology for plant protection: Sensing, modelling, spraying system personalized nutrition Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, Di Martino, M., 2025-04-29 Food supplements and functional foods play a key role in personalized nutrition plans claiming to modulate physiological functions based on individual needs. As the field of personalized nutrition evolves, it is crucial to consider the safety implications of these products, particularly given their increasing use in recent decades. Although generally perceived as safe, food supplements and functional foods may pose food safety challenges. Additionally, it is important to consider that regulatory inconsistencies across jurisdictions, including definitions and requirements, contribute to significant diversity in the regulation of these products worldwide. This publication by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO) provides a comprehensive overview of potential safety concerns associated with food supplements and functional foods. It examines regulatory frameworks across different regions, highlighting variations in classification, labelling, composition, registration, and claims. The report also explores consumer perceptions of these products, analysing the motivations behind their use. As scientific understanding of food's impact on human health advances, regulatory frameworks may need to adapt to address emerging innovations and safety challenges. FAO remains committed to collaborating with its members and stakeholders to enhance knowledge sharing on food safety, supporting competent authorities in protecting public health. Achieving
