Pimentel,2019-03-07 Safety has been ranked as the number one concern for the acceptance and adoption of automated vehicles since safety has driven some of the most complex requirements in the development of self driving vehicles. Recent fatal accidents involving self driving vehicles have uncovered issues in the way some automated vehicle companies approach the design testing verification and validation of their products. Traditionally automotive safety follows functional safety concepts as detailed in the standard ISO 26262. However automated driving safety goes beyond this standard and includes other safety concepts such as safety of the intended functionality SOTIF and multi agent safety. Safety of the Intended Functionality SOTIF addresses the concept of safety for self driving vehicles through the inclusion of 10 recent and highly relevant SAE technical papers. Topics that these papers feature include the system engineering management approach and redundancy technical approach to safety. As the third title in a series on automated vehicle safety this contains introductory content by the Editor with 10 SAE technical papers specifically chosen to illuminate the specific safety topic of that book.
