for democratic innovation Bergan, Sjur, Gallagher, Tony, Harkavy, Ira, 2016-02-22 Democracy is increasingly the standard against which societies are measured The term democratic culture designates the set of attitudes and behaviours that citizens need to have for democratic institutions and laws to function in practice This is an important development from older perceptions of democracy which focused on institutions laws and procedures It is a recognition that democracy will not function unless citizens want it to function In all countries there are committed individuals aspiring to make their societies better democracies As the Secretary General of the Council of Europe Thorbjørn Jagland has said on several occasions our societies seek to address 21st century issues through 19th century institutions Through contributions by authors from Europe North America and other parts of the world this book explores how higher education can help find new ways to develop commitment to public space and societal engagement and make democracy more vibrant

Social Media and Modern Society - How Social Media Are Changing the Way We Interact with the World Around Ján Višňovský, Jana Majerová, 2024-11-27 This book offers a compelling exploration of how social media platforms are reshaping contemporary life and driving economic political and cultural transformations It brings together theoretical insights and empirical studies to examine the multifaceted impact of social media on communication behavior policy and societal norms The various chapters address critical issues such as digital marketing social responsibility and the role of influencers emphasizing how businesses and individuals are navigating the evolving digital landscape The book delves into pressing concerns including the psychological effects of social media on youth the spread of misinformation and the challenges of digital addiction It highlights the dual nature of social platforms as both enablers of civic engagement and sources of division presenting case studies on topics such as political discourse community activism and local democracy

Tutankhamun and Carter Rogerio Sousa, Gabriele Pieke, Tine Bagh, 2024-08-15 First scholarly multi disciplinary re assessment of Howard Carter's discovery and excavation of Tutankhamun's tomb and the impact of the find on our understanding of the material culture of Ancient Egypt The discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamun in 1922 stands out as one of the most important finds of modern archaeology revealing an enormous wealth of objects encapsulating techniques vestiges of uses and re uses of materials as well as unrivalled clues regarding the complex set of beliefs associated with the pharaonic funerary material culture Once cleared from the tomb these objects have captivated the world with their irresistible charm and beauty ending up playing a role in contemporary popular culture However it seems that such magnetism rather hindered than facilitated the scholarly study of the find One hundred years after the discovery of this magnificent tomb most of its objects remain insufficiently studied to this day This volume aims to show how it remains challenging to study Tutankhamun s objects gathering a collection of studies authored by leading scholars on conservation materials funerary beliefs as well as the reception of motifs and the impact of the discovery Through these studies it becomes clear how ancient objects can help us reconstruct the complex fabric of the ancient Egyptian society and how they keep interacting with modern audiences Ephemeral Cinema Spaces Maria Vélez-Serna,2025-10-01 With changing technologies and social habits the communal cinema experience would seem to be a legacy from another era However the 2010s saw a surge in interest for screening films in other temporary public settings This desire to turn ruins pubs galleries parks village halls and even boats into ephemeral cinema spaces is a search for ways of being and working together using cinema as a framework for social encounter This book documents contemporary practices of pop up and sitespecific cinema exhibition in the UK with a focus on Scotland tracing their links with historical forms of non theatrical exhibition such as public hall cinema and fairground bioscopes Through archival research observation and interviews with film exhibitors and programmers the book explores how exhibitors create ephemeral social spaces how they negotiate the various uses and configurations of films and venues and how they reinvent cinemagoing from its margins
