Hokanson, Gregory Clinton, Andrew A. Tawfik, Amy Grincewicz, Matthew Schmidt, 2020-04-09 This book is the outcome of a research symposium sponsored by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology AECT Consisting of twenty four chapters including an introduction and conclusion it argues that informational content should not be the main element of education and that to provide more for learners it is necessary to go beyond content and address other skills and capabilities It also discusses the false premise that learning is complete when the information is known not when learners seek more their own directions answers and ideas The authors assert that the ability to synthesize solve problems and generate ideas is not based on specific content although education often focuses solely on teaching content Further they state that content can be separated from the learning process and that instructional design and educational technology must be about the skills habits and beliefs to be learned Reframing the Reclaiming of Urban Space Megan E. Heim

LaFrombois, 2017-11-30 In Reframing the Reclaiming of Urban Space A Feminist Exploration into Do It Yourself Urbanism in Chicago Megan E Heim LaFrombois explores the concept of do it yourself DIY urbanism from an intersectional feminist analytical framework Interventions based on DIY urbanism are small scale and place specific and focus on urban spaces which can be reclaimed and repurposed often outside of formal urban planning institutions Heim LaFrombois examines the discourses and processes surrounding the institutionalized and embedded nature of DIY urbanism She weaves together sites and sources to reveal the ways in which DIY urbanists make sense of their participation and experiences with DIY urbanism and with the broader political social and economic contexts and spaces in which these activities take place Her research findings contribute to and build on current research that illustrates the importance of gender race class and sexuality to cities local politics urban planning initiatives and the development of communities The Comprehensive Autism

Planning System (CAPS) Shawn Henry, Brenda Smith Myles, 2024-08-06 The Comprehensive Autism Planning System for Individuals CAPS is a reflection of its creator In his role as a state and national leader Shawn Henry serves as an advocate for autistic individuals Shawn and co author Brenda Smith Myles clearly describe each element of the CAPS model in a well organized text Throughout the book the authors and expert contributors highlight a variety of evidence based strategies that correspond to each area of the CAPS The CAPS model illustrates their ability to create meaningful change through realistic and practical means It s a simple yet powerful system This innovative approach helps teachers and educational teams plan and implement a student s education across the school including the Individualized Education Program IEP and the curriculum relevant to the student It takes the team through the process of planning out the goals objectives to be targeted in each activity of the day the modifications and accommodations that should be provided to support the student in each activity the sensory supports needed to help the student stay engaged and the communication and social supports for successful learning It shows the type of data to collect for each area and helps to note what reinforcers have been shown to be successful While this system was developed for use with individuals on the autism spectrum it can also be an essential tool for any student regardless of the types of supports and needs they have There are also vocational and transitional formats that are available for students making the transition to work The CAPS has been updated to address current trends in special education instruction and research In this edition emphasis is placed on Inclusion Successful practices that support learning for autistic students Updated evidence based practices and case studies that apply the CAPS system to post secondary education and employment Through the CAPS autistic individuals have access to meaningful instruction that will allow them to reach their potential
