

Position Argument on Medical Marijuana

There seems to be a constant need to provide conflict in our society. Everywhere you turn you will find articles fighting against the legalization of medical marijuana, which in this state, is already legal. What an interesting concept having to continue to defend the legality and why it should be legal in the first place. Heaven forbid we have something that actually helps people tolerate the pain they have to constantly live with. Why would we want to give them some relief? We are actually putting some income back into the economy instead of throwing it away to some criminal or helping the Mexican Cartel make a profit.

Now why in the world would we want to do that? These are the questions that came to my mind when I hear about everything going on with the cannabis issue. Let's get down to some brass tactics as they say on everything that is being said against this issue. First off you hear, it is a gateway drug to addictive drugs like cocaine and heroin. Well that is funny, because if you survey the people hooked on cocaine and heroin, in most instances you will find that they actually abused beer and alcohol first. They did not start with marijuana.

This is according to polls taken by a number of organizations looking into the addictiveness of this type of pain killer. There is no evidence that marijuana is addictive. People like to use marijuana because it makes them feel good. Now it has been proven to be an effective pain killer. What is the problem then? Look at all the people sitting in jail right now for using marijuana or trying to distribute marijuana. Our tax dollars pay for all these people sitting in jail for using marijuana simply because our government went and listed it as a Schedule 1 drug way back in the 1950's.

Even though it has been proven that it is not addictive and should not be listed this way-we can't seem to get them to change this. The only reason it seems that this isn't being done is because the pharmaceutical companies have our politicians and government in their back pocket. They support them financially. Well that, of course, is way more important than maybe providing someone with pain relief. Our economy is in the toilet right now. I'm just thinking about how many new jobs would become available if we were opening medical marijuana dispensaries all over the country. That doesn't even include the growers and caregivers that would now have an income coming in. Instead, they continue to keep marijuana illegal in most states. How many farmers could continue to stay in business if they could legally grow marijuana as a crop for sale? It just doesn't make any sense when you look at all the people on unemployment or who have lost everything because there just isn't enough work out there. Yet, there is millions and millions of dollars spent every year on illegal marijuana. There is also millions and millions of dollars every year spent on trying to stop the drug cartels bringing in Place of Reasons in Logic Hubert Marraud,2025-06-12 This book is a systematic exposition of Argument Dialectics AD

Despite its name argument dialectics is a logical approach to argumentation theory AD stands out among theories of argument because of three unusual features it is reasons based holistic and particularistic This implies that AD conceives of logic as a theory of the dialectical construction of reasons not as a theory of inferences Consequently contrary to other logical approaches AD focuses on the study of inter argumentative relations especially those of opposition and weighing The book makes an extensive use of the theory of reasons a branch of metaethics that has been a very valuable quarry of intuitions and concepts for the elaboration of a reason based theory of argument The oppositions generalism particularism and atomism holism proposed by Jonathan Dancy which play a central role in the book and in the development of AD have been adapted from the theory of reasons and the same can be said of the distinction between different statuses of reasons that AD associates with different kinds of counterarguments Conceiving of the theory of argument in terms of reasons has the effect of situating the paradigm of argumentation in practical argumentation reasoning about what to do rather than in theoretical argumentation about what to believe as inference based theories do Hence this book is of interest to argumentation theorists communication theorists epistemologists linguists moral philosophers and philosophers of law The Art of Academic
