Anatomy Model Corpse Party:

Corpses in Belgian Anatomy, 1860-1914 Tinne Claes, 2019-11-20 This book tells the story of the thousands of corpses that ended up in the hands of anatomists in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Composed as a travel story from the point of view of the cadaver this study offers a full blown cultural history of death and dissection with insights that easily go beyond the history of anatomy and the specific case of Belgium From acquisition to disposal the trajectories of the corpse changed under the influence of social policies ideological tensions religious sensitivities cultures of death and broader changes in the field of medical ethics Anatomists increasingly had to reconcile their ways with the diverse meanings that the dead body held To a certain extent as this book argues they started to treat the corpse as subject rather than object Interweaving broad historical evolutions with detailed case studies this book offers unique insights into a field dominated by Anglo American perspectives evaluating the similarities and differences within other European contexts Technologies of the Human Corpse John Troyer, 2021-08-03 One of our greatest thinkers on death presents a radical new approach to thinking about dying and the human corpse Caitlin Doughty mortician and bestselling author of Smoke Gets in Your Eyes A fascinating exploration of the relationship between technology and the human corpse throughout history from 19th century embalming machines to 21st century death prevention technologies Death and the dead body have never been more alive in the public imagination not least because of current debates over modern medical technology that is deployed it seems expressly to keep human bodies from dying blurring the boundary between alive and dead In this book John Troyer examines the relationship of the dead body with technology both material and conceptual the physical machines political concepts and sovereign institutions that humans use to classify organize repurpose and transform the human corpse Doing so he asks readers to think about death dying and dead bodies in radically different ways Troyer explains for example how technologies of the nineteenth century including embalming and photography created our image of a dead body as quasi atemporal existing outside biological limits formerly enforced by decomposition He describes the Happy Death Movement of the 1970s the politics of HIV AIDS corpse and the productive potential of the dead body the provocations of the Body Worlds exhibits and their use of preserved dead bodies the black market in human body parts and the transformation of historic technologies of the human corpse into death prevention technologies The consequences of total control over death and the dead body Troyer argues are not liberation but the abandonment of Homo sapiens as a concept and a species In this unique work Troyer forces us to consider the increasing overlap between politics dying and the dead body in both general and specifically personal terms Introductory Lecture Before the Anatomical Class of the University of Pennsylvania William E.
