Tigers of the Snow and Other Virtual Sherpas Vincanne Adams,2014-05-06 Sherpas are portrayed by Westerners as heroic mountain guides or tigers of the snow as Buddhist adepts and as a people in touch with intimate ways of life that seem no longer available in the Western world In this book Vincanne Adams explores how attempts to characterize an authentic Sherpa are complicated by Western fascination with Sherpas and by the Sherpas desires to live up to Western portrayals of them Noting that diplomatic aides at world summit meetings go by the name Sherpa as do a van in the U K built for rough terrain and a software product from Silicon Valley Adams examines the authenticating effects of this mobile signifier on a community of Himalayan Sherpas who live at the base of Mount Everest Nepal and its deauthenticating effects on anthropological representation This book speaks not only to anthropologists concerned with ethnographic portrayals of Otherness but also to those working in cultural studies who are concerned with ethnographically grounded analyses of representations Throughout Adams illustrates how one might undertake an ethnography of transnationally produced subjects by using the notion of virtual identities In a manner informed by both Buddhism and shamanism virtual Sherpas are always both real and distilled reflections of the desires that produce them Himalayan Geology ,1975

needed to complete a project that he had been persistently working on for over a decade the True Adventurers Grand Slam standing atop the Seven Summits and skiing full length unsupported and unassisted expeditions to both the North and South Poles His accomplishment that day made him just the 9th person and first American to gain entry into this exclusive club Never one to embrace the easy path Waters seemed to thrive in battling through whatever the fates threw at him sometimes even deliberately seeking out struggles Despite having little experience cross country skiing he decided to go to the South Pole Eschewing the more typical route he and partner Cecilie Skog completed the first traverse of Antarctica without the use of resupplies or kites Skiing from Berkner Island in the Weddell Sea via the South Pole to the Ross Ice Shelf the pair skied for 70 days and covered 1200 miles 9 years prior to the much publicized 2019 race across Antarctica To this day the two hold the record for the longest unsupported crossing of the continent without the use of kites How Waters ended up standing atop the North Pole on that fateful day is a story of hope perseverance faith and a fair share of dumb luck From his youth traipsing around the Georgia hills to his time leading expeditions around the Himalayas including five summits of Everest Waters has always seemed to stumble into the next fortuitous step of his journey often ending up in the most unlikely places This is tempered by the fact that early in Waters outdoor career he learned to live by a simple credo you have to make things happen for yourself At the beginning of his climbing career he was consumed by passion for the mountains every decision was leading to the next mountaineering challenge Eventually giving up a stable career as a geologist he had a self described mid 20 s crisis left his 401K and comfortable salary for living out of his truck and 40 dollars a day as a part time climbing instructor Following his dream of a life of adventure in exchange for a life of obeying societal norms he set out to build a mountain resume that would enable him to circle the Earth and work as a mountain guide in the Himalayas and beyond After almost two decades of hard expeditions around the planet his experiences include being on a hijacked airplane in Russia rescue of injured climbers in the Karakoram Himalaya of Pakistan the Everest Base Camp earthquake disaster narrowly missing out on the K2 2008 tragedy near misses with avalanches the deaths of close climbing partners close encounters with Polar Bears on the Arctic Ocean relationships with fellow adventurers and much more Scribner's Magazine ... ,1896
