Solving Proportions

A proportion is an equation that states that two ratios are equal. If a quantity in a proportion is unknown, you can solve a proportion to find the unknown quantity as shown below.

Problem

What is the solution of $\frac{3}{4} = \frac{x}{14}$?

There are two methods for solving proportions—using the Multiplication Property of Equality and the Cross Products Property.

- 1) The Multiplication Property of Equality says that you can multiply both sides of an equation by the same number without changing the value.

$$\begin{aligned}\frac{3}{4} &= \frac{x}{14} \\ 14\left(\frac{3}{4}\right) &= 14\left(\frac{x}{14}\right) \\ \frac{42}{4} &= x \\ 10.5 &= x\end{aligned}$$

To isolate x , multiply each side by 14.

Simplify.

Divide 42 by 4.

- 2) The Cross Products Property says that you can multiply diagonally across the proportion and these products are equal.

$$\begin{aligned}\frac{3}{4} &= \frac{x}{14} \\ (4)(x) &= (3)(14) \\ 4x &= 42 \\ \frac{4x}{4} &= \frac{42}{4} \\ x &= 10.5\end{aligned}$$

Multiply diagonally across the proportion.

Multiply.

To isolate x , divide each side by 4.

Simplify.

Real world situations can be modeled using proportions.

Problem

A bakery can make 6 dozen donuts every 21 minutes. How many donuts can the bakery make in 2 hours?

A proportion can be used to answer this question. It is key for you to set up the proportion with matching units in both numerators and both denominators.

For this problem, you know that 2 hours is 120 minutes and 6 dozen is 72 donuts.

Correct:

$$\frac{72 \text{ donuts}}{21 \text{ min}} = \frac{x \text{ donuts}}{120 \text{ min}}$$

Incorrect:

$$\frac{72 \text{ donuts}}{21 \text{ min}} = \frac{120 \text{ min}}{x \text{ donuts}}$$

Principles and Practice of Constraint Programming - CP '95 Ugo Montanari, 1995-09-06 This book constitutes the proceedings of the First International Conference on Principles and Practice of Constraint Programming CP 95 held in Cassis near Marseille France in September 1995 The 33 refereed full papers included were selected out of 108 submissions and constitute the main part of the book in addition there is a 60 page documentation of the four invited papers and a section presenting industrial reports Thus besides having a very strong research component the volume will be attractive for practitioners The papers are organized in sections on efficient constraint handling constraint logic programming concurrent constraint programming computational logic applications and operations research Systems: Theory and Practice Rudolf Albrecht, 2012-12-06 There is hardly a science that is without the notion of system We have systems in mathematics formal systems in logic systems in physics electrical and mechanical engineering architectural operating information programming systems in computer science management and production systems in industrial applications economical ecological biological systems and many more In many of these disciplines formal tools for system specification construction verification have been developed as well as mathematical concepts for system modeling and system simulation Thus it is quite natural to expect that systems theory as an interdisciplinary and well established science offering general concepts and methods for a wide variety of applications is a subject in its own right in academic education. However, as can be seen from the literature and from the curricula of university studies at least in Central Europe, it is subordinated and either seen as part of mathematics with the risk that mathematicians who may not be familiar with applications define it in their own way or it is treated separately within each application field focusing on only those aspects which are thought to be needed in the particular application. This often results in uneconomical re-inventing and re-naming of concepts and methods within one field while the same concepts and methods are already well introduced and practiced in other fields. The fundamentals on general systems theory were developed several decades ago. We note the pioneering work of M. A. Arbib, R. E. Kalman, G. I. Klir, M. D. Mesarovic, Trends in the Theory and Practice of Non-Linear Analysis, 1985-01-01. Trends in the Theory and Practice of Non-Linear Analysis. CCENT/CCNA ICND1 640-822 Official Cert Guide. Theories of Learning and Studies of Instructional Practice Timothy

Koschmann, 2011-04-19 This is a book about an attempt to change the way math was taught in a particular classroom Its title plays on our everyday usage of the terms theory and practice In education these terms are conventionally treated oppositionally we have theories about what we should do and we have what teachers actually do do In this way theory stands prior logically and chronologically to practice practice inevitably becoming theory s imperfect realization We seek in this volume however to develop a different stance with regard to the relationship between the two Taking the details of instructional practice as our principle object of study we explore what role theories of learning might play in illuminating such practices The book is about actual practices by which teaching is done and how contemporary theories of learning might help us understand those practices It seeks to provide a foundation for future practice based inquiry in education by addressing the methodological question How do we go about studying instructional practice in a principled way
