Global Portuguese Luiz Paulo Moita-Lopes, 2014-12-17 This book aims at deconstructing and problematizing linguistic ideologies related to Portuguese in late modernity and questioning the theoretical presuppositions which have led us to call Portuguese a language Such an endeavor is crucial when we know that Portuguese is a language which is increasingly internationalized used as the official language in four continents in ten countries and which has come to play a relevant role in the so called linguistic market on the basis of the geopolitical transformations in a multipolar world The book covers a wide range of social political and historical contexts in which Portuguese is used in Brazil Canada East Timor England Portugal Mozambique and Uruguay and considers diverse linguistic practices Through this critique contributors chart new directions for research on language ideologies and language practices including research related to Portuguese and to other languages and consider ways of developing new conceptual compasses that are better attuned to the sociolinguistic realities of the late modern era in which people texts and languages are increasingly in movement through national borders and those of digital networks of communication genetic control and molecular biology as well as pre clinical and clinical research It also presents state of the art diagnostic approaches and therapeutic options and an open discussion on the future prospects for patient management Malignant mesothelioma is an enormous global health problem related to asbestos exposure Despite the best efforts of scientists and oncologists the prognosis for those affected remains poor Due to anatomical characteristics and non specific symptoms the diagnosis of mesothelioma at an early stage is often difficult while surgery and radiotherapy are only of limited use even if some multimodality approaches seem promising In turn medical treatments are sometimes successful in tumor control but have little impact on overall survival However advances in our understanding of the disease s biology together with the availability of new drugs and combinations make mesothelioma an essential and highly topical field for pre clinical and clinical studies This book is subdivided into four parts epidemiology and preclinical data diagnosis therapy and extrathoracic mesothelioma It highlights the progress made in a variety of areas e g in vitro and in vivo experimental models genetics environment biomarkers targeting agents immunotherapy metabolic imaging and ongoing clinical trials and describes the standard clinical management of mesothelioma patients including those with extra thoracic localizations Given its scope the book offers an invaluable tool for researchers oncologists and clinicians alike

Education, Privatisation and Social Justice Ian Macpherson, Susan Robertson, Geoffrey Walford, 2014-05-12 The involvement of private actors in education is not new yet in the last decade critical issues have arisen that demand close scrutiny This volume explores emerging forms of the private through case studies from Africa South Asia and South East Asia and makes three related observations First what is new about these manifestations is their scale scope and penetration into almost all aspects of the education endeavour from the administrative apparatus to policymaking and from formal provision in education settings to out of school activities such as private tutoring Second what is particularly controversial about these developments is how education itself is being recast as a sector it is increasingly being opened up to profit making and trade and to agenda setting by private commercial interests Third the learner is increasingly conceptualised as a consumer and education a consumer good The case studies therefore enable us to see more clearly how different forms of the private in education alter what is at stake for whom and with what outcomes and the consequences for individuals and societies In turn these raise the very important question about what they mean for our conceptualisations of education learning and teaching on the one hand and for education as a site and means for emancipation on the other These are profound social justice concerns and ones that make this volume distinctive This book sets out to address these hard but urgent questions and will be of interest to academics and students of education education researchers government personnel and policymakers
