Capacity Mechanisms in the EU Energy Markets Leigh Hancher,Adrien de Hauteclocque,Kaisa Huhta,Malgorzata Sadowska,2022-10-13 Capacity remuneration mechanisms or simply capacity mechanisms have become a fact of life in member states energy markets and are one of the hottest topics in the wider European regulatory debate Concerned about the security of electricity supply national governments are implementing subsidy schemes to encourage investment in conventional power generation capacity alongside already heavily subsidized renewable energy sources With the increasingly connected European electricity markets the introduction of a capacity mechanism in one country not only tends to distort its national market but may also have unforeseeable consequences for neighbouring electricity markets As these mechanisms are adopted by member states with limited supra national coordination as well as consideration for the cross border impact they tend to cause serious market distortions and put the future of the European internal electricity market at risk This second edition will take stock of how capacity mechanisms have actually worked so far and consider the consequences they have for the European internal electricity market It will include a detailed overview of national capacity mechanisms their implications for the EU internal market and will outline the nature of market failures which are likely to occur in the European electricity markets This edition is intended to serve as a point of reference for regulators and policy makers on how to design optimal capacity mechanisms in Europe It will be an invaluable resource for anyone interested in energy market design regulation and competition issues

Trading Spaces Emma Hart,2024-07-06 Looks at the shift from the marketplace as an actual place to a theoretical idea and how this shaped the early American economy When we talk about the economy the market is often just an abstraction While the exchange of goods was historically tied to a particular place capitalism has gradually eroded this connection to create our current global trading systems In Trading Spaces Emma Hart argues that Britain s colonization of North America was a key moment in the market s shift from place to idea with major consequences for the character of the American economy Hart s book takes in the shops auction sites wharves taverns fairs and homes of seventeenth and eighteenth century America places where new mechanisms and conventions of trade arose as Europeans re created or adapted continental methods to new surroundings Since those earlier conventions tended to rely on regulation more than their colonial offspring did what emerged in early America was a less fettered brand of capitalism By the nineteenth century this had evolved into a market economy that would not look too foreign to contemporary Americans To tell this complex transnational story of how our markets came to be Hart looks back farther than most historians of US capitalism rooting these markets in the norms of seventeenth and eighteenth century Britain Perhaps most important this is not a story of specific commodity markets over time but rather is a history of the trading spaces themselves the physical sites in which the grubby work of commerce occurred and where the market itself was born

China's Evolving Nuclear Deterrent Eric Heginbotham, Michael S. Chase, Jacob L. Heim, Bonny Lin, Mark R. Cozad, Lyle J. Morris, Christopher P. Twomey, Forrest E. Morgan, Michael Nixon, Cristina L. Garafola, Samuel K. Berkowitz, 2017-03-06 China's approach to nuclear deterrence has been broadly consistent since its first test in 1964 but it has recently accelerated nuclear force modernization China's strategic environment is likely to grow more complex and nuclear constituencies are gaining a larger bureaucratic voice Beijing is unlikely to change official nuclear policies but will probably increase emphasis on nuclear deterrence and may adjust the definition of key concepts

T Cell Regulation by the Environment Anne L. Astier, David A. Hafler, 2015 Naïve T cells get activated upon encounter with their cognate antigen and differentiate into a specific subset of effector cells These T cells are themselves plastic and are able to re-differentiate into another subset changing both phenotype and function Differentiation into a specific subset depends on the nature of the antigen and of the environmental milieu Notably certain nutrients such as vitamins A and D sodium chloride have been shown to modulate T cell responses and influence T cell differentiation Parasite infection can also skew Th differentiation Similarly the gut microbiota regulates the development of immune responses Lastly the key role of metabolism on T cells has also been demonstrated This series of articles highlights some of the multiple links existing between environmental factors and T cell responses

Radiotherapy for Effective Radiotherapy Delivery Nam Phong Nguyen,Ulf Lennart Karlsson,2016-04-22 Image guided radiotherapy IGRT is a new radiotherapy technology that combines the rapid dose fall off associated with intensity modulated radiotherapy IMRT and daily tumor imaging allowing for high precision tumor dose delivery and effective sparing of surrounding normal organs The new radiation technology requires close collaboration between radiologists nuclear medicine specialists and radiation oncologists to avoid marginal miss Modern diagnostic imaging such as positron emission tomography PET scans positron emission tomography with Computed Tomography PET CT and magnetic resonance imaging MRI allows the radiation oncologist to target the positive tumor with high accuracy As the tumor is well visualized during radiation treatment the margins required to avoid geographic miss can be safely reduced thus sparing the normal organs from excessive radiation When the tumor is located close to critical radiosensitive structures such as the spinal cord IGRT can deliver a high dose of radiation to the tumor and simultaneously decreasing treatment toxicity thus potentially improving cure rates and patient quality of life During radiotherapy tumor shrinkage and changes of normal tissues volumes can be detected daily with IGRT The volume changes in the target volumes and organs at risk often lead to increased radiation dose to the normal tissues and if left uncorrected may result in late complications Adaptive radiotherapy with re planning during the course of radiotherapy is therefore another advantage of IGRT over the conventional radiotherapy techniques This new technology of radiotherapy delivery provides the radiation oncologist an effective tool to improve patient quality of life In the future radiation dose escalation to the residual tumor may potentially improve survival rates Because the treatment complexity a great deal of work is required from the dosimetry staff and physicists to ensure quality of care Preliminary clinical results with IGRT are encouraging but more prospective studies should be performed in the future to assess the effectiveness of IGRT in improving patient quality of life and local control In this Frontiers Research Topic we encourage submission of original papers and reviews dealing with imaging for radiotherapy planning the physics and dosimetry associated with IGRT as well as the clinical outcomes for cancer treatment with IGRT for all tumor sites Cultural Studies 50 Years On Kieran Connell,Matthew Hilton,2016-09-30 Stuart Hall conceptualized his time at the Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies as a series of interruptions It was this fluidity that gave rise to Hall s conception of cultural studies as a moving target a fusion of a range of disciplinary approaches that was uniquely influenced by politics in the world beyond the academy The political commitments of those at the Centre were wide ranging and from its embrace of collective ways of research and decision making to its deployment of various strands of European Marxist theory had a critical impact on the Centre s working practices Yet as the diverse work of many of these same scholars has shown the political climate of the present day is almost unrecognizable from that of the mid 1960s to the mid 1980s arguably the most productive period in the Centre s history Cultural Studies 50 Years On explores how the political social and cultural contexts of the early 21st century influenced the object and method of doing cultural studies In bringing together a historical reassessment of the Centre with present day questions regarding the future of the field the aim is not to reduce cultural studies to the work of a single now defunct institution Instead it aims to utilize what is a critical moment in the trajectory of the field in order to take stock of where it has come from and to explore where it might be going Market and Competition Authorities Annetje

Ottow,2015-03-26 Market and competition authorities operate in a complex environment with conflicting stakeholder demands Balancing the various interests of the authority and stakeholder in an objective and impartial manner is strategic to achieving the goals of the legislation imposed In a fresh approach examining the actions of an authority when a regulation is applied Annetje Ottow argues the vital importance of the behaviour of authorities focusing on five fundamental good agency principles legality independence transparency effectiveness and responsibility or LITER These principles provide agencies and those reviewing their actions with a framework for agency design and action Combining theory and practice to provide insight into agencies organization and behaviour this book outlines and analyses behavioural issues using an ecosystemic method addressing how independent agencies should be assessed and which principles should apply Using cases from the Netherlands and the UK Ottow examines the key processes of authorities against the LITER principles and opens the debate on how to regulate the agency MiFID II and Private Law Federico Della Negra,2019-07-11 Based on author s thesis
