Accounting November 2013 Memorandum:

House of Commons - Committee of Public Accounts: The Fight Against Malaria - HC 618 Great Britain:

Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2013-11-15 The Department for International Development is committed to tackling malaria which affected 219 million people in 2010 and led to 660 000 deaths However there is concern that spending by DFID on measures to combat the disease rising each year to 500 million a year by 2015 may not provide good value as the Department does not have good enough infrastructure everywhere to manage the expenditure effectively About half of the total number of malaria cases worldwide occur in just two countries Nigeria and the Democratic Republic of Congo but the Department has been spreading its resources across 17 countries It now agrees it should do more work in these two countries but has yet to complete an analysis which would ensure well informed decisions on where to focus resources Cuts in funding carry their own risks On the other hand long term commitments can create an equally long term dependence on UK funding DfID need to plan and support long term sustainable programmes to combat malaria for which developing countries can take responsibility themselves DfID must ensure their actions do not have unintended consequences The Department for example the mass distribution of free or subsidised bed nets can damage local businesses selling locally produced nets It is also essential that the Department make the most of quick cheap and easy diagnostic tests to increase the number of people who can be quickly diagnosed and effectively treated This could lead to a halving of the current expenditure on drugs

Accountability for public money - progress report Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2012-04-17 This report is a follow up to the Committee's report on Accountability for Public Money HC 740 session 2010 11 ISBN 9780215559029 an issue at the core of the relationship between Parliament and government Accounting Officers remain accountable to Parliament for funds voted to their departments but the policy intention is that local bodies will have significant discretion over the services they deliver In the Government's response Accountability Adapting to Decentralisation Sir Bob Kerslake drew a distinction between those services that government delivers directly and those that it may fund but are delivered in more decentralised arrangements He proposed that Accounting Officers set out in Accountability System Statements the arrangements they have in place to provide assurance about the probity and value for money of funds spent through devolved systems All departments are expected to produce Statements by summer 2012 Departments have made a genuine effort to develop arrangements which reconcile accountability and localism but the Statements so far are unwieldy and considerably more needs to be done to improve their clarity consistency and completeness There is concern that accountability frameworks must drive value for money and critically are sufficiently robust to address the operational or financial failure of service providers Departments are placing increasing reliance on market mechanisms such as user choice to drive up performance and value for money but there are limits to what these mechanisms can achieve The Treasury needs to take ownership of the system and ensure that the Comptroller and Auditor General has the necessary powers and rights of access to examine the value for money of funds spent through devolved systems

Haiti International Monetary Fund. Western Hemisphere Dept., 2015-01-05 EXECUTIVE SUMMARY This is the final review under the Extended Credit Facility ECF arrangement The program contributed to maintaining macroeconomic stability and there was progress on structural reforms The authorities intend to request a successor arrangement under the ECF A new finance minister was appointed in April uncertainly remains on the timing of elections Preliminary data suggest that GDP in FY2014 grew by 3.54 percent while inflation increased slightly to about 5 percent An increase in fuel prices in October should result in fiscal savings of at least 1 percent of GDP during FY2015 The March performance criterion on net international reserves NIR was met but although the deficit was lower than projected the performance criterion on net central bank credit to the central government was missed Downside risks are significant and include a pull back of Venezuela related flows a resumption of political tensions and vulnerability to weather events A total of SDR 1 638 million will become available upon completion of this review bringing total disbursements under the ECF to SDR 40 950 million Key Policy Recommendations The policy mix in particular the adjustment going forward should come from a lower fiscal deficit rather than from a tighter monetary policy The FY2015 fiscal deficit should be reduced to mitigate financing risks as part of a medium term plan to restore fiscal sustainability The central bank should let the exchange rate adjust more to market pressures Intervention should be parsimonious geared at avoiding excess volatility and disorderly movements in the exchange rate it should be guided by fundamentals in the medium term Progress on structural reforms including on the energy sector and on public financial management should catalyze more donor support and is essential for supporting growth A possible new ECF arrangement would entrench macroeconomic stability and promote policies to generate sustained GDP growth Fundamentals of Accounting and Auditing Mr. Rohit
