The concern for chief executive officers is that they are confronting a situation that is seemingly out of control. They are asking: What is the best way to rein in these problems and effectively assess IS performance? Further, how can we be certain that IS is adequately adding value to the organisational bottom line? On the other hand, IS executives and professionals who are responsible for creating, managing and maintaining the organisation's systems are worried about the preparedness of general managers to cope with the growth in new technologies and systems. They see IT having a polarising effect on general managers: it either bedazzles or frightens them. Davenport 1994: 119.
