OECD,2000-03-09 The Guidelines for Consumer Protection in the Context of Electronic Commerce are designed to help ensure that consumers are no less protected when shopping on line than they are when they buy from their local store or order from a catalogue By Protecting consumers - the system for enforcing consumer law Great Britain: National Audit Office,2011-06-15 Unfair treatment of consumers ranging from pressure selling to systematic scams by criminals is costing billions of pounds each year but the system for enforcing consumer law is not delivering value for money The overall scale of this so called consumer detriment particularly that caused by doorstep crime is not being properly evaluated leading to the inefficient allocation of resources Although much detriment occurs at the regional and national level incentives are weighted against a coordinated approach which goes beyond local areas While there are no reliable figures NAO estimates the cost of detriment which cannot be tackled at local level is more than 4 8 billion each year Central government provides annual funding of 34 million to tackle crime which crosses the borders between local authorities but this is relatively low compared to the scale of the problem The Department for Business Innovation and Skills estimates that the annual funding for Trading Standards Services will reduce from 213 million to about 140 million 170 million by 2014 affecting action to address this problem The framework for prioritizing and allocating cases introduced by the Office of Fair Trading is not being applied as intended But formal structures for supporting the model are not in place in seven of the eleven regions and there is still a lack of clarity over who should be taking cases forward As a result the OFT has been able to take enforcement action on only two of the 15 cases referred to it in the last two years Enforcement of Consumer Protection Legislation
