scientists and researchers Science Interactions ,1998 Nerve Cells and Nervous Systems A.G. Brown,2012-12-06

It is now about 10 years since the first edition of Nerve Cells and Nervous Systems was published There have been many important advances across the whole field of neuro science since 1990 and it was obvious that the first edition had become much less useful than when it was published Hence this new edition I have attempted to keep to the aims of the first edition by presenting the general principles of neuroscience in the context of experimental evidence As with the first edition the selection of material to include or exclude has been difficult and invariably reflects my personal biases I hope that not too many readers will be disappointed with the selections I have unashamedly retained material and in particular illustrations where I think they remain of importance to an understanding of the field and to its historical development As before I have attempted as reasonable a coverage as possible within the confines of a book that should be easy to carry around to handle and I hope to read The book should be useful for anyone studying the nervous system at both undergraduate and immediate postgraduate levels In particular under graduates reading neuroscience or any course containing a neuroscience component such as physiology pharmacology biomedical sciences or psychology as well as medicine and veterinary medicine should find the book helpful Study Guide for Memmler's Structure & Function of the Human Body, Enhanced Edition Kerry

Computers Martha Evens,Joel Michael,2006-08-15 One on One Tutoring by Humans and Computers articulates the CIRCSIM Tutor project an attempt to develop a computer tutor that generates a natural language dialogue with a student Editors Martha Evens and Joel Michael present the educational context within which the project was launched as well as research into tutoring the process of implementation of CIRCSIM Tutor and the results of using CIRCSIM Tutor in the classroom The domain of this project is cardiovascular physiology specifically targeting first year medical students though the idea is applicable to the development of intelligent tutoring systems across populations disciplines and domains This 5 year long project was motivated by the belief that students need assistance in building appropriate mental models of complex physiological phenomena as well as practice in expressing these ideas in their own words to fully develop those models and experience in problem solving to use those models effectively The book outlines directions for future research and includes distinct features such as detailed studies of human one on one tutoring learning outcomes resulting from use of the tutor natural language input parsed and translated into logical form and natural language output generated using the LFG paradigm This volume will appeal to educators who want to improve human tutoring or use computer tutors in the classroom and it will interest computer scientists who want to build those computer tutors as well as anyone who believes that language is central to teaching and learning Biology Joseph S.
