Jennifer H. Herman and Linda B. Nilson demonstrate how to create the conditions to facilitate deep and meaningful learning as well as to assess the effectiveness of discussions. They identify, analyze and solve common problems in both classroom and online discussions and in both small and large classes. They take a direct practice oriented approach that in acknowledging common challenges provides principles guidance on design examples of activities and techniques and eight detailed case studies. These cases demonstrate successful approaches that faculty across disciplines and from a variety of institutions have adopted in their face to face blended or online courses at the undergraduate or graduate level. They also offer practical recommendations to readers who may want to try their strategies. Intended for faculty this book will be equally valuable for educational developers who can use this resource in their programs and private consultations. At the graduate level this book can serve as a text or workshop resource in college teaching courses and teaching assistant development programs. The final chapter provides a set of resources and activities including discussion questions on the case studies writing prompts and jigsaw formats that are equally appropriate for individual study or for use in workshop environments.
