

Abstract: Staphylococcus aureus is a leading cause of nosocomial infection. The purpose of this study was to determine the prevalence of S. aureus in the hospital environment. A total of 100 samples were collected from various hospital areas. The results showed that 60% of the samples were positive for S. aureus. The highest prevalence was found in the intensive care unit (ICU) at 80%, followed by the operating room (OR) at 70%. The lowest prevalence was found in the outpatient clinic at 20%. The results suggest that the ICU and OR are high-risk areas for S. aureus infection. Further studies are needed to determine the source of the infection and to develop strategies to reduce the prevalence of S. aureus in the hospital environment.
