4. (a) With the number "4" indicate the most likely location on the map of a volcanic island arc.
(b) What type of plate boundary is this? _____
(c) What evidence shown on the map indicates that this type of boundary is present?
5. With the number "5" label all plate boundaries where oceanic trenches should be found.
6. (a) Assume that only one of the volcanoes on the map is associated with a hot spot. With the number "6" label this volcano.
(b) With a 2-centimeter (about 1-inch) long arrow extending from this volcano, indicate the direction in which you would expect to find progressively older extinct volcanoes left by the hot spot.
7. In the space below, draw an approximate continuous cross section ("side view") of the ocean basin from Point "A" to Point "B" (from lower left to upper right). Use the "side view" drawings on page 228 and Figure 33-2 for reference, and use arrows to indicate the relative direction of plate motion. If subduction is taking place, clearly show which plate is subducting beneath the other.

Geography and the Human Experience, 2004 Experiential Learning in Geography Jonathan E. Wessell, 2021-11-01 This book provides insight into the importance and impacts that experiential learning has in geographic education by examining the experience the methods of evaluation and the encounters that students have shared about their experiences It allows the reader to gain insight into what it really takes to prepare and lead students in such experiences both domestically and internationally The book can be used as a guide to planning but also demonstrates the use of experiential learning theory throughout these experiences and especially the importance of reflection by the students on what they are experiencing The book is beneficial to students and faculty alike that are studying geography education

Cultural Encounters with the Environment Viola Haarmann, 2000 In Cultural Encounters with the Environment a distinguished group of contributors offers a fresh and original view of contemporary geography The authors explore the role of four traditional themes in the New cultural geography: the interplay between the evolution of particular biophysical niches and the activities of the culture groups that inhabit them; the diffusion of cultural traits; the establishment and definition of culture areas; and the distinctive mix of geographical characteristics that gives places their special character in relation to one another By examining how cultural space is constructed how environment is remade understood and imaged as a consequence and how people lay claim to place this volume establishes a compelling case for the importance of these enduring concepts to present and future trajectories in cultural geography *Report of the ...
