Rhodes Must Fall And The Battle For Truth:

Rhodes Must Fall Brian Kwoba, Roseanne Chantiluke, Athinangamso Nkopo, 2018-08-15 When students at Oxford University called for a statue of Cecil Rhodes to be removed following similar calls by students in Cape Town the significance of these protests was felt across continents This was not simply about tearing down an outward symbol of British imperialism a monument glorifying a colonial conqueror but about confronting the toxic inheritance of the past and challenging the continued underrepresentation of people of colour at universities And it went to the very heart of the pernicious influence of colonialism in education today Written by key members of the movement in Oxford Rhodes Must Fall is the story of that campaign Showing the crucial importance of both intersectionality and solidarity with sister movements in South Africa and beyond this book shows what it means to boldly challenge the racism rooted deeply at the very heart of empire Fault

in History Education in Europe Ander Delgado, Andrew Mycock, 2023-07-01 The heightened resonance of identity driven politics in many states across twenty first century Europe emphasizes the critical role of history in shaping public contestation of the idea of the nation and accordant manifestations of nationalism and national identity How the past is interpreted or what and how is remembered has proven increasingly febrile contentious and divisive Debates about history have gone beyond academia and have permeated and polarised politics and society in many European countries Intense debate and dispute about national history and culture has often focused on the history teaching in schools colleges and universities According to the aforementioned it is evident that the teaching of history in the classroom is a relevant topic within the educational system For this reason it is not surprising that many times the choice of what kind of history to teach becomes a controversial topic The existence in a given society of different visions about the nation or the various responses proposed to face the social challenges existing in it immigration independence nationalisms can turn the teaching of history into a debated and controversial topic Logically depending on the specific political context of each country this debate can acquire different developments and characteristics The school is not an institution isolated from its socio political context In fact both areas constantly interact Therefore this book proposes an approach to this topic that tries to connect the specific political context of different countries with the debates about education and history teaching from 1990 until the present It deals with the extent to which the social and political context affects the history teaching practice developed in the classrooms through the decisions made on the official curricula and textbooks Emphasizing this connection between both aspects is one of the strengths of this book That is the reason why this book proposes an approach to that reality from diverse points of view and show the different materializations observed in this area in the studied cases The chapters of this volume allow us to verify this heterogeneous reality and help enrich our knowledge on this broad and interesting topic Localising Memory in Transitional Justice Mina Rauschenbach, Julia Viebach, Stephan Parmentier, 2022-05-30 This collection adds to the critical transitional justice scholarship that calls for transitional justice from below and that makes visible the complex and oftentimes troubled entanglements between justice endeavours locality and memory making Broadening this perspective it explores informal memory practices across various contexts with a focus on their individual and collective dynamics and their intersections reaching also beyond a conceptualisation of memory as mere symbolic reparation and politics of memory It seeks to highlight the hidden unwritten and multifaceted in today's memory boom by focusing on the memorialisation practices of communities activists families and survivors Organising its analytical focal point around the localisation of memory it offers valuable and new insights on how and under what conditions localised memory practices may contribute to recognition and social transformation as well as how they may at best be inclusive or exclusive of dynamic and diverse memories Drawing on inter and multi disciplinary approaches this book brings an in depth and nuanced understanding of local memory practices and the dynamics attached to these in transitional justice contexts It will be of much interest to students and scholars of memory and genocide studies peace and conflict studies transitional justice sociology and anthropology The Decolonization of Knowledge Jonathan D. Jansen, Cyril A. Walters, 2022-06-30 In 2015 students at the University of Cape Town used the slogan RhodesMustFall to demand that a monument of Cecil John Rhodes the empire builder of British South Africa be removed from the university campus Soon students at Oxford University called for the removal of a statue of Rhodes from Oriel College The radical idea of decolonization at the forefront of these student protests continues to be a key element in South African educational institutions as well as those in Europe and North America This book explores the uptake of decolonization in the institutional curriculum given the political demands for decolonization on South African campuses and the generally positive reception of the idea by university leaders Based on interviews with more than two hundred academic teachers at ten universities this is an innovative account of how institutions have engaged with subverted and transformed the decolonization movement since RhodesMustFall The East India Company at Home, 1757-1857 Margot Finn, Kate Smith, 2018-02-15 The East India Company at Home 1757-1857 explores how empire in Asia shaped British country houses their interiors and the lives of their residents It includes chapters from researchers based in a wide range of settings such as archives and libraries museums heritage organisations the community of family historians and universities It moves beyond conventional academic narratives and makes an important contribution to ongoing debates around how empire impacted Britain The volume focuses on the propertied families of the East India Company at the height of Company rule From the Battle of Plassey in 1757 to the outbreak of the Indian Uprising in 1857 objects people and wealth flowed to Britain from Asia As men in Company service increasingly shifted their activities from trade to military expansion and political administration a new population of civil servants army officers surveyors and surgeons journeyed to India to make their fortunes These Company men and their families acquired wealth tastes and identities in India which travelled home with them to Britain Their stories the biographies of their Indian possessions and the narratives of the stately homes in Britain that came to house them frame our explorations of imperial culture and its British legacies Integrity, Personal, and Political Shmuel Nili, 2020 This book provides a novel account of integrity and its relevance to both individual and collective conduct and analyses a wide range of practical policy problems Rethinking Historical Time Marek Tamm, Laurent Olivier, 2019-08-22 Is time out of joint For the past two centuries the dominant Western time regime has been future oriented and based on the linear progressive and homogeneous concept of time Over the last few decades there has been a shift towards a new present oriented regime or presentism made up of multiple and percolating temporalities Rethinking Historical Time engages with this change of paradigm providing a timely overview of cutting edge interdisciplinary approaches to this new temporal condition Marek Tamm and Laurent Olivier have brought together an international team of scholars working in history anthropology archaeology geography philosophy literature and visual studies to rethink the epistemological consequences of presentism for the study of past and to discuss critically the traditional assumptions that underpin research on historical time Beginning with an analysis of presentism the contributors move on to explore in historical and critical terms the idea of multiple temporalities before presenting a series of case studies on the variability of different forms of time in contemporary material culture Public Art in South Africa Kim Miller, Brenda Schmahmann, 2017-10-16 How does South Africa deal with public art from its years of colonialism and apartheid How do new monuments address fraught histories and commemorate heroes of the struggle Across South Africa statues commemorating figures such as Cecil Rhodes have provoked heated protests while new works commemorating icons of the liberation struggle have also sometimes proved contentious In this lively volume Kim Miller Brenda Schmahmann and an international group of contributors explore how works in the public domain in South Africa serve as a forum in which important debates about race gender identity and nationhood play out Examining statues and memorials as well as performance billboards and other temporal modes of communication the authors of these essays consider the implications of not only the exposure but also erasure of events and icons from the public domain Revealing how public visual expressions articulate histories and memories they explore how such works may serve as a forum in which tensions surrounding race gender identity or nationhood play out Fallen Monuments and Contested Memorials Juilee Decker, 2023-07-05 Fallen Monuments and Contested Memorials examines how the modification destruction or absence of monuments and memorials can be viewed as performative acts that challenge prescribed embodied narratives in the public realm Bringing together international multidisciplinary approaches the chapters in this volume interrogate the ways in which memorial constructions disclose implicitly and explicitly the proxy battle for public memory and identity particularly since 2015 Acknowledging the ways in which the past which is given agency through monuments and memorials intrudes into daily life this volume offers perspectives from researchers that answer questions about the roles of monuments and memorials as persistent yet mutable works whose meanings are not fixed but are rather subject to processes of continual re interpretation By using monuments and memorials as lenses through which to view race memory and the legacies of war power and subjugation this volume demonstrates how these works and their visible representations of entitlement possession control and authority can offer the opportunity to pose and answer questions about whose memory matters and what our symbols say about who we are and what we value Fallen Monuments and Contested Memorials is essential reading for scholars and students studying cultural heritage history art history and public history It will be particularly useful to those with an interest in public monuments and memorials colonial and post colonial history memory studies and nationalism race and ethnic studies Selfless

Literature, Science and Art ,1896 Education and Elitism Conrad Hughes,2021-04-26 Education and Elitism discusses polemical debates around privilege private schools elitist universities equal access to education and underlying notions of fairness The overarching question that runs through the book is about the future of education worldwide how can schools and universities tread the tightrope between access and quality This book investigates the philosophical positions that characterize elitism and anti elitism to establish three types meritocratic plutocratic and cultural These types of elitism and their counter positions are used as reference points throughout the book's analysis of successive educational themes. The conclusion leads to suggestions that bridge the worlds of elitism and egalitarianism worldwide. The book covers critical questions related to the sociology and philosophy of education with particular focus on contemporary disruptors to education such as the COVID 19 pandemic and protest movements for social justice. With an attempt to offer readers an objective overview, this book will be an excellent compendium for students, academics and researchers of the sociology of education, education policy and comparative education. The Leopard, the Lion, and the Cock Matthew Stanard, 2019-04-15. Thought provoking reflection on culture, colonialism and the remainders of empire in Belgium after 1960. The degree to which the late colonial era affected Europe has been long underappreciated and only recently have European countries started to acknowledge not having come to terms with decolonisation. In Belgium, the past two decades have witnessed a growing awareness of the controversial episodes in the country's colonial past. This volume examines the long term effects and legacies of the colonial era on Belgium after 1960, the year the Congo gained its independence and calls into question memories of the colonial past by focusing on the meaning and place of colonial monuments in public space. The book foregrounds the enduring presence of empire in everyday Belgian life in the form of permanent colonial markers in bronze and stone lieux de mémoire of the country's history of overseas expansion. By means of photographs and explanations of major pro colonial memorials as well as several obscure ones, the book reveals the surprising degree to which Belgium became infused with a colonialist spirit during the colonial era. Another key component of the analysis is an account of the varied ways in which both Dutch and French speaking Belgians approached the colonial past after 1960, treating memorials variously as objects of veneration with indifference or as symbols to be attacked or torn down. The book provides a thought provoking reflection on culture, colonialism and the remainders of empire in Belgium after 1960.

Apartheid and Fragmented Protest in Contemporary Southern Africa Cuthbert Tagwirei, 2025-09-26. Apartheid and Fragmented Protest in Contemporary Southern Africa examines protest movements through the lens of Apartheid Studies, the first general theory of apartheid which explores how oppression, harm, injustice, poverty, loss and inequality persist. The book argues that apartheid, which breaks the world of the oppressed into fragments, fomenting diverse experiences of oppression among its victims, frames the nature and course of protests by making them subject to its fragmentation. Protest is thus redefined as good neighbourly and demoted on account of its symbiotic relationship to apartheid. It is observed that the proliferation of protests does not preclude the persistence of apartheid. Rather, protest and apartheid are seen to be compatible. By examining protest hashtags on X from South Africa and Zimbabwe, the book explores and identifies the forms, relations, meanings, trajectories and effects protests take, evoke and embody as fragments subsisting in a fractured apartheid universe. It demonstrates how and why life goes on amidst protest, sheds light on the contradictions paradoxes and complexities that characterise protest movements and invites conversations around protest as a paradigm in the context of apartheid The book will be of interest to researchers across the fields of social movements protests sociology African Studies and communication and media studies
