Reasons to Believe George R. Urquhart,2010-07 Although the debate has raged on for centuries in both the public realm and in the halls of academia the deciding blow of whether or not a Creator fashioned the cosmos from nothing is still a lively and intense discussion Can we know whether the Big Bang occurred If so does it present trouble for a believer s worldview And what parts of evolution are scientifically verifiable and what are metaphysical Do we know of phenomena that cannot be explained by elements acting on each other over time George R Urquhart began this book as a simple list of amazing things that could not be categorized or explained without the loving intentions of a Creator Maturing beyond those simple goals Reasons to Believe has grown into a full resource for understanding the questions concerning God s creation With a objectivity and ability to honestly face the facts George shows the world that a strong foothold can be established in both science and a belief in God without compromising the two Follow George as he leads you clearly and concisely through the realms of rigorous scientific study and shows you the miracles and wonders of a creative God Plundered Skulls and Stolen Spirits Chip Colwell,2017-03-08 A leading anthropologist explores the fraught project of repatriating Native
