COVID-19 pandemic has resulted significant challenges to entities in various industries. Examples for changes in external environment due to COVID-19 are as follows:

- Government policy of granting "moratorium" on debt services.
- Government policy of implementing simple tax system.
- Reduction in interest rates.
- Physical meetings were substituted with virtual meetings (e.g. via Skype, Zoom, Teams, etc.).
- Introduction of laws and regulations to follow health guidelines.

You are required to:

Relate each of the above examples with external environmental factors / forces (PESTEL).

Accountancy, 1991 Frank Wood's A-Level Accounting Frank Wood, Alan Sangster, 2004 This edition of Frank Wood's A level Accounting has been restructured to match closely the AQA A level syllabus now covered in the first fifteen chapters. In particular, coverage of partnership accounts is now in one chapter, all company accounting is covered in one chapter, and standard costing and variance is covered in a single chapter. The book builds on a first course in accounting and includes coverage of the more advanced aspects of financial and management accounting. As well as providing instruction and practice in the preparation of accounting information, the text stresses the need for students to understand the business reasons behind accounting techniques. A continuing strength of the book is the large amount of question material. Recent past questions from the main examining bodies are included, as well as a useful guide to examination techniques at A level.

Selected Papers in Network and System Administration Eric Anderson, Mark Burgess, Alva Couch, 2002 The emergence of network and System Administration during the latter quarter century as a discipline of science and engineering has culminated in a number of paradigms for managing networks of collaborating machines. These include automatic regulation, policy based management, computer immunology, quality control procedures, and even the psychology of the user system interaction. Techniques based on scripting, declarative languages, empirical measurements, and theoretical models spanning psychology to game theory have been developed. In this volume, key contributions to the discipline are presented through the words of the authors who contributed them. The forum for this thread of ideas has been the USENIX Association's LISA conferences, originally the Large System Administration conference. These conferences have played and continue to play a unique role in cementing a relationship between researchers and working network and system administrators. Computer scientists, engineers, system administrators, and students will each find something of permanent value here. No matter what developments the future brings, these words represent important conceptual foundations of the field. These papers are reprinted here for the first time in a convenient form, along with a commentary reflecting on their significance within the discipline as a whole.

Agenda, 1953 Was Man More Aquatic in the Past? Fifty Years After Alister Hardy - Waterside Hypotheses of Human Evolution Mario Vaneechoutte, Algis Kuliukas, Marc Verhaegen, 2011 The book starts from the observation that humans are very different from the other primates. Why are we naked? Why do we speak? Why do we walk upright? Fifty years ago, in 1960, marine biologist Sir Alister Hardy tried to answer this when he announced his so-called aquatic hypothesis: human ancestors did not live in dry savannahs as traditional anthropology assumes, but have adapted to live at the edge between land and water, gathering both terrestrial and aquatic foods. This eBook is an up-to-date collection of the views of the most important protagonists of this long-neglected theory of humankind.
