Looking for Law in All the Wrong Places Marianne Constable, Leti Volpp, Bryan Wagner, 2019-03-05 For many inside and outside the legal academy the right place to look for law is in constitutions statutes and judicial opinions This book looks for law in the wrong places sites and spaces in which no formal law appears These may be geographic regions beyond the reach of law everyday practices ungoverned or ungovernable by law or works of art that have escaped law's constraints Looking for Law in All the Wrong Places brings together essays by leading scholars of anthropology, cultural studies, history, law, literature, political science, race and ethnic studies, religion and rhetoric to look at law from the standpoint of the humanities. Beyond showing law to be determined by or determinative of distinct cultural phenomena, the contributors show how law is itself interwoven with language, text, image and culture. Many essays in this volume look for law precisely in the kinds of wrong places where there appears to be no law. They find in these places not only reflections and remains of law but also rules and practices that seem indistinguishable from law and raise challenging questions about the locations of law and about law's meaning and function. Other essays do the opposite rather than looking for law in places where law does not obviously appear: they look in statute books and courtrooms from perspectives that are usually presumed to have nothing to say about law. Looking at law sideways or upside down or inside out defamiliarizes law. These essays show what legal understanding can gain when law is denied its ostensibly proper domain. Contributors: Kathryn Abrams, Daniel Boyarin, Wendy Brown, Marianne Constable, Samera Esmeir, Daniel Fisher, Sara Ludin, Saba Mahmood, Rebecca McLennan, Ramona Naddaff, Beth Piatote, Sarah Song, Christopher Tomlins, Leti Volpp, Bryan Wagner. Looking for Math in All the Wrong Places Shai Simonson, 2022-08-30. The soul of mathematics is the practice of skeptical inquiry: asking how and why things work, experimenting, exploring and discovering. Estimation, analysis, computation, conjecture and proof are the mathematical path to uncovering truth and we can use them in nearly every human pursuit. In this thoroughly charming and beguiling book, Shai Simonson applies mathematical tools in a variety of contexts that arise in everyday life to prove his claim that math is literally everywhere. Simonson applies his mathematical cast of mind to hiking, birthday parties, carnival games, lock picking and kite flying. We see unexpected depths and connections when we look in the wrong places in the right way. No advanced mathematical knowledge is required to travel with Simonson and share in his investigations. All a reader needs is an open and curious mind, an eagerness to ask questions and a willingness to think deeply and carefully about seemingly mundane things. There is wonder and joy in quotidian life with Simonson as your guide. Looking For Love In All the Wrong Places Ida Greene, PhD, 2014-07-01. We all crave and need love. We are starving for love, feel deprived and lonely without it. I will let you on the secret to fill your inner void for love. In this book, I will give you a daily thought or idea to awaken the love lying dormant inside you. As we walk around feeling like Earthlings, we notice that our feelings are stimulated by those wonderful romantic movies and those juicy little novels and even our fantasy-prone, fun-loving and creative mind. We tend to forget that life, no matter what aspect of living we may be focused on, is about our evolution, our evolution to find and give love.
