MENC Handbook of Research on Music Learning Richard Colwell, Peter R. Webster, 2011-11-23 Summarizes the latest research on music learning focusing on the profession's empirical conceptual knowledge of how students gain competence in music at various ages in different contexts

MENC Handbook of Research on Music Learning: Volume 1: Strategies Richard Colwell, Peter R. Webster, 2011-10-26 The MENC Handbook of Research on Music Learning Volume 1 Strategies brings together the best and most current research on methods for music learning focusing squarely on the profession's empirical and conceptual knowledge of how students gain competence in music at various ages and in different contexts. The collection of chapters written by the foremost figures active in the field takes a broad theoretical perspective on current critical areas of research including music development, music listening and reading, motivation and self-regulated learning in music, music perception and movement. The book's companion volume, Applications, builds an extensive and solid position of practice upon the frameworks and research presented here. Throughout both volumes in this essential set, focus is placed on the musical knowledge and musical skills needed to perform, create, understand, reflect on, enjoy, value, and respond to music. A key point of emphasis rests on the relationship between music learning and finding meaning in music, and as music technology plays an increasingly important role in learning today, chapters move beyond exclusively formal classroom instruction into other forms of systematic learning and informal instruction. Either individually or paired with its companion, Volume 2 Applications, this indispensable overview of this growing area of inquiry will appeal to students and scholars in Music Education as well as front-line music educators in the classroom.

The Oxford Handbook of Music Education, Volume 1 Gary E. McPherson, Graham F. Welch, 2012-09-13 The two volumes of The Oxford Handbook of Music Education offer a comprehensive overview of the many facets of musical experience, behavior, and development in relation to the diverse variety of educational contexts in which they occur. In these volumes, an international list of contributors update and redefine the discipline through fresh and innovative principles and approaches to music learning and teaching.

Case study examples are used to examine issues relating to pedagogy, as improvisation, the use of technology to support creativity, and meaningful music experience, facilitation of the use of music for creativity, sense of belonging, musical identities, and musical development in later life, and more. The book concludes with an innovative and creative pedagogical model to support critical reflection on values, frameworks, and practices in later-life music learning and participation. Teaching Music Performance in Higher Education Helen Julia Minors, Stefan Östersjö, Gilvano Dalagna, Jorge Salgado Correia, 2024-05-27 Higher Music Performance Education as taught and learned in universities and conservatoires in Europe is undergoing transformation.

Since the nineteenth century the master apprentice pedagogical model has dominated creating a learning environment that emphasises the development of technical skills rather than critical and creative faculties This book contributes to the renewal of this field by being the first to address the potential of artistic research in developing student centred approaches and greater student autonomy This potential is demonstrated in chapters illustrating artistic research projects that are embedded within higher music education courses across Europe with examples ranging from instrumental tuition and ensemble work to the development of professional employability skills and inclusive practices Bringing together diverse and experienced voices working within Higher Music Education but often also as professional performers this edited collection pairs critical reflection with artistic insight to present new approaches to curricula for teaching interpretation and performance It calls for greater collaboration between Higher Education and professional music institutions to create closer bonds with music industries and thereby improve students career opportunities Teaching Music Performance in Higher Education will appeal to scholars performers teachers but also students whose interests centre on innovative practices in conservatoires and music departments
