Indigenous Cultures and Mental Health Counselling Suzanne L. Stewart,Roy Moodley,Ashley Hyatt,2016-08-12 North America s Indigenous population is a vulnerable group with specific psychological and healing needs that are not widely met in the mental health care system Indigenous peoples face certain historical cultural linguistic and socioeconomic barriers to mental health care access that government health care organizations and social agencies must work to overcome This volume examines ways Indigenous healing practices can complement Western psychological service to meet the needs of Indigenous peoples through traditional cultural concepts Bringing together leading experts in the fields of Aboriginal mental health and psychology it provides data and models of Indigenous cultural practices in psychology that are successful with Indigenous peoples It considers Indigenous epistemologies in applied psychology and research methodology and informs government policy on mental health service for these populations

Campus Violence Leighton Whitaker, Jeffrey Pollard, 2014-02-04 This timely book shows how the rapidly increasing phenomenon of violence in the U S is invading college and university campuses Campus Violence shows what colleges universities and other schools can do to deconstruct the violence culture and begin to educate for a better society The chapters assist educators in determining the nature of both external and internal violence and what to do about it Readers will benefit from the experiences of many institutions of higher learning as communicated by various outstanding contributors to this book By becoming sharply aware of the issues and solutions administrators may engage in better more realistic long range planning as well as get help for the myriad daily questions and problems inherent to running today's campuses As a whole the book is devoted to highlighting important kinds causes and cures of violence destructive to living and learning opportunities The contributors address the full range of issues from conceptualization to practical ways of handling violent behaviors Section I Addresses the broadest most far reaching views of campus violence the conceptualization of campus violence administration perspectives the destructive concoction of alcohol and other drugs and morbidity and the commercial promotion of mindless violence Section II Addresses specific kinds of violence Section III Focuses on the most frequent immediate perpetrators male college students and how their behavior can be dealt with and improved Section IV Focuses very specifically on how the college counselor or psychotherapist can be a consultant to staff and faculty in regard to disruptive students Campus Violence depicts the need to nurture and develop atmospheres for learning respect and constructive action arguably the most pressing topic in education today Counselors therapists security officers deans and presidents can begin to counter the rapidly increasing phenomenon of violence in American colleges and universities and cultivate a positive leadership atmosphere The implications of the contributing authors reach to the primary and secondary schools in our nation the training grounds for college life and education and provoke some questions which begin to create a better learning environment

FOUNDATIONS OF COUNSELING PEOPLE Michael E. Illovsky, 2013-04-01 Those in the counseling profession are interacting more with people from other cultures the U S sphere of influence throughout the world is spreading increasingly we are providing services to clients who are not Caucasian or of European heritage and our educational programs have been active in training both domestic students of diverse ethnic backgrounds as well as foreign students These factors combine to contribute to the need for those who provide counseling to understand the elements involved in interacting with a wide spectrum of people This book meets that need by providing a brief synopsis on such topics as common factors values universals cross cultural competence and models approaches and psychological perspectives of human behavior theories of personality The emphasis is on material that relies more on the use of the scientific method and data instead of anecdotal and experiential literature For the reader who is interested in obtaining information from which statements are derived there are references to investigate the material further Unlike other book that stress the barriers between counselor and client this book adds the perspective that there are factors that facilitate interactions between the two There are also frequent cross cultural examples in the book To facilitate awareness of similarities and differences in views of human behavior samples of African Arab Chinese and European American perspectives are represented There is also a relatively large section on applications This consists of such subjects as cross cultural aspects of psychological theories ethics research tests Euro American approaches and experiences client characteristics client and counselor interactions and therapeutic techniques Many other topics are covered as well Students and professionals in the fields of counseling and psychology will find this book to be an invaluable addition to their library
