

THE SKELETON
The skeleton is the framework of the body, supporting the soft organs and tissues. It is composed of bones and cartilage. The bones are made of a hard, white, mineralized substance called bone tissue. The cartilage is a soft, flexible tissue that connects the bones to each other and to the other parts of the body. The skeleton is divided into the axial skeleton (skull, spine, and rib cage) and the appendicular skeleton (arms and legs).

THE MUSCLES
The muscles are the soft tissue that contracts to move the bones. They are made of muscle fibers that are connected to each other by a network of nerves. The muscles are divided into the skeletal muscles (which move the bones) and the smooth muscles (which move the internal organs).

THE JOINTS
The joints are the points where two or more bones meet. They allow the bones to move relative to each other. There are three main types of joints: ball-and-socket joints, hinge joints, and sliding joints.

THE NERVOUS SYSTEM
The nervous system is the control system of the body. It is made of nerves that carry messages from the brain to the rest of the body. The brain is the central part of the nervous system, and the nerves are the pathways that connect it to the rest of the body.

THE CIRCULATORY SYSTEM
The circulatory system is the system that carries blood throughout the body. It is made of the heart, which pumps the blood, and the blood vessels, which carry the blood to and from the rest of the body.

THE DIGESTIVE SYSTEM
The digestive system is the system that breaks down food into nutrients that the body can use. It is made of the mouth, esophagus, stomach, and intestines.

THE RESPIRATORY SYSTEM
The respiratory system is the system that takes in oxygen and removes carbon dioxide from the body. It is made of the nose, mouth, trachea, and lungs.

THE EXCRETORY SYSTEM
The excretory system is the system that removes waste from the body. It is made of the kidneys, which filter the blood, and the ureters, which carry the waste to the bladder.

THE ENDOCRINE SYSTEM
The endocrine system is the system that produces hormones, which are chemical messengers that control the body's functions. It is made of the pituitary gland, thyroid gland, and other glands.
