Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week resistance training program on the muscle strength and endurance of 12-year-old girls. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The experimental group performed a 12-week resistance training program, while the control group did not. The results showed that the experimental group had significantly greater muscle strength and endurance than the control group after the 12-week program. The findings suggest that resistance training can be beneficial for young girls, improving their muscle strength and endurance.
