108 Structure of the Mammalian Heart

Key ideas: Mammals have a four-chambered heart, divided into left and right halves, and acting as a double pump. The heart is the centre of the human circulatory system. It is a hollow, muscular organ made up of four chambers (two atria and two ventricles) that alternately fill and empty of blood, acting as a double pump. The left side pumps the oxygenated blood to the rest of the body, and the right side pumps deoxygenated blood to the lungs. The heart has a double-layered pericardium of connective tissue, which prevents over-distension of the heart and anchors it within the mediastinal compartment of the thoracic cavity.

Human heart structure (simplified, anterior view)

Arrows indicate integrated blood in the heart and body.

Heart is divided into four chambers: the right and left atria and ventricles. The right atrium receives deoxygenated blood from the body, and the right ventricle pumps it to the lungs. The left atrium receives oxygenated blood from the lungs, and the left ventricle pumps it to the body.

The heart is not a spherical organ. Although the quantity of blood pumped by each side is the same, the walls of the left ventricle are thicker and more muscular than those of the right ventricle to enable it to pump blood to the rest of the body.

Right atrium: receives deoxygenated blood in the anterior and posterior vena cavae.
Left atrium: receives oxygenated blood returning to the heart from the lungs via the pulmonary veins.
Left ventricle: pumps oxygenated blood to the body and lungs via the aorta.

Superior view of heart to show coronary arteries

Superior vena cava, Inferior vena cava, Right coronary artery, Left coronary artery, Aorta, Pulmonary artery, Pulmonary veins, Right ventricle, Left ventricle, Interventricular septum, Coronary sulcus.

1. In the schematic diagram of the heart below, label the four chambers and the main vessels entering and leaving them. Then complete the diagram of blood flow, using large coloured circles to mark the direction of flow of the blood.
