Women: Wise, Optimistic, Motivating, Empowering & Nurturing Letlhokwa George Mpedi, 2024-08-05 Women's Day celebrated annually on the 9th of August commemorates the 1956 women's march against the discriminatory pass laws during the apartheid era. It was on this day that women from across the nation were led by Helen Joseph, Lillian Ngoyi, Rahima Moosa, and Sophia Williams De Bruyn to the Union Buildings to protest against the oppressive pass laws. As SA History describes it, the 1956 Women's March played a vital role in women becoming more visible participants in the anti-apartheid struggle. That is not to say that women were not already playing an instrumental role in the struggle. But as history has long demonstrated, this is often a forgotten aspect of our narrative. This unfortunate omission underscores the importance of reclaiming and preserving these stories, weaving them into the broader narrative of societal progress. As we reflect on their fight and the impact of their war cry, wathint abafazi wathint imbokodo uza kufa, which translates to 'when you strike the women, you strike a rock; you will be crushed; you will die', we are given pause to reflect on the progress made in the fight for equality since then. We now live in a democratic society where many of our aspirations have been realised. Yet there is much we have not managed to achieve. To say that South Africa has achieved equality would be a fallacy. A grim reality is that in many aspects, we have failed women. Pay parity, underrepresentation in industries, unequal access to opportunities, disturbing levels of violence, sexism, and misogyny persist unabated. These issues cast a long shadow over our aspirations as a nation. This book aims to shed light on these issues while honouring the progress made and highlighting the road ahead.

Enhancing effective public sector governance Audrey H. Legodi, Philna Coetzee, Lourens Erasmus, 2025-04-23 Audit committees are formed to provide impartial advice on matters of governance, risk management, internal controls, and audits performance management, compliance, and financial reporting. It is alarming to see communities deteriorating as a result of poor municipal services despite the fact that existing audit committees serve as independent advisory boards. Accountability is key to the success of municipalities; individuals opposing the implementation of improved service delivery should be held accountable. This book examines the obstacles that hinder audit committees from effectively executing their duties, giving a thorough analysis and resolutions to the South African service delivery crisis. The book's use of the IQA method reveals overlooked variables that South African municipalities and audit committees must contemplate. This methodological contribution results in the construction of a literature framework to substantiate the focus of the study through the identified themes. This book offers guidelines for municipal audit committees on executing their roles successfully and ethically. It also practically equips regulators, including the National Treasury, provincial treasuries, CoGTA, and SALGA, with measures to enhance the efficacy of audit committees. Professional bodies and Best Practices Guidance bodies may augment their standards and ethical codes to guide members serving on audit committees.

Changing Cities Michael Pacione,2004 Policy Implications of Ecowas in Regional Development Dr. Joseph K. Manboah-Rockson,2019-06-06 Policy Implications of ECOWAS in Regional Development is an analytical study of the policies and programs impeding the transformation of the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS into a cohesive entity What is questionable throughout this book is the specific paradigm of regional integration adopted by West African countries similar to the European Union but which is not working as envisaged A linear textbook model demonstrates an integration to do with the preoccupation with tariff liberalization as not being the most effective means of addressing the challenges of smallness marginalization and under development in West Africa The fundamental issue and underlying problem in West Africa is that of economically socially and politically weak states These weak states lack the institutional capacity to make and effectively implement policies and regulations meant to drive the integration process More to these assertions are that there is much evidence of strong political commitment to regional integration but very poor performance on the implementation of commitments that is there is no political will to commit to regional integration

Racial Redress & Citizenship in South Africa Adam Habib,Kristina A. Bentley,2008 South Africa s democratic experiment is confronted by a central political dilemma how to advance and address historical injustices while building a single national identity This issue lies at the heart of many heated debates over issues such as economic policy affirmative action and skills shortages Government has opted for racially defined redress while many of its critics recommend class as a more appropriate organising principle The contributors to this volume challenge both perspectives As both scholars and activists and from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds the authors explore the issues within four broad themes the economy education sport and the civil service Addressing the scholarly community civil society and government each author brings unique perspectives to the question of redress that is so crucial to the future of South Africa
