The Sustainable City IX N. Marchettini, C.A. Brebbia, R. Pulselli, S. Bastianoni, 2014-09-23 Containing the proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Urban Regeneration and Sustainability this book addresses the multi disciplinary aspects of urban planning a result of the increasing size of cities the amount of resources and services required and the complexity of modern society Most of earth s population now lives in cities and the process of urbanisation still continues generating many problems deriving from the drift of the population towards them These problems can be resolved by cities becoming efficient habitats saving resources in a way that improves the quality and standard of living The process however faces a number of major challenges related to reducing pollution improving main transportation and infrastructure systems New urban solutions are required to optimise the use of space and energy resources leading to improvements in the environment i e reduction in air water and soil pollution as well as efficient ways to deal with waste generation These challenges contribute to the development of social and economic imbalances and require the development of new solutions Large cities are probably the most complex mechanisms to manage However despite such complexity they represent a fertile ground for architects engineers city planners social and political scientists and other professionals able to conceive new ideas and time them according to technological advances and human requirements The challenge of planning sustainable cities lies in considering their dynamics the exchange of energy and matter and the function and maintenance of ordered structures directly or indirectly supplied and maintained by natural systems Topics covered include Urban strategies Planning development and management Urban conservation and regeneration The community and the city Eco town planning Landscape planning and design Environmental management Sustainable energy and the city Transportation Quality of life Waterfront development Case studies Architectural issues Cultural heritage issues Intelligent environment and emerging technologies Planning for risk Disaster and emergency response Safety and security Waste management Infrastructure and society Urban metabolism

Zubir,C.A. Brebbia,2013-12-03 With majority of the Earth s people now urban dwellers and cities being the most efficient habitat for the utilisation of resources it is imperative that we continue to support standards of living and efficiencies of urban areas However the urbanisation process has not been without its problems While much has been done to address the original issues surrounding the quality of urban life new challenges continue to arise It is no longer sustainable to achieve improvements by means that require greater and greater energy consumption as we did in the past Despite their complexity however cities are a great laboratory for architects engineers and other key professionals to apply new ideas and new technology to meet our requirements for more sustainable city environments Containing papers presented at the latest in a series of conferences organised by the Wessex Institute of Technology these proceedings split in to two volumes address not just environmental architectural and engineering concerns but also quality of life security risk and heritage The diversity of topics and the case studies based on existing projects make the book an important contribution to the literature on urban planning ICTs and Higher Education in Africa ,2007 This overview reviews existing national and international policies with regard to the use of Information and Communication Technologies ICTs to enhance teaching and learning within institutions of tertiary education Common areas of strength and of weakness with regard to educational technology readiness in the Partnership for Higher Education in Africa PHEA countries are explored The challenges to the deployment of ICT in tertiary education within the PHEA countries are outlined Finally lessons learned and possibilities for collaboration are highlighted Secondary Cities and Development Lochner Marais,Etienne Nel,Ronnie Donaldson,2016-05-20 The role secondary cities play in the global space economy and national urban hierarchies is increasingly receiving attention from scholars and international agencies most notably the Cities Alliance Secondary Cities and Development considers the role of secondary cities through the lens of South Africa a middle income country with characteristics of both the developed and developing worlds This book brings together a broad overview of international literature on secondary cities in South Africa and mirrors them against global experience Chapters emphasize the importance of secondary cities as regional services areas their potential roles in rural development the vulnerabilities to which they are prone and their significant potential By means of review six South African case studies and an assessment of contemporary policy approaches towards these cities this unique volume provides insight into a spectrum of globally significant challenges

This book would be of interest to academics and policy makers working in urban studies or regional development Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa Hangwelani H. Magidimisha-Chipungu, Lovemore Chipungu, 2021-09-28 This book's point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society being women children and the aging the minority clusters i.e the blind the disabled and migrants In addition it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests The focus on spatial inequality has for a long time blind folded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book's enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region Land Reform in South Africa Brent McCusker, William G.

Moseley, Maano Ramutsindela, 2015-11-05 This thoughtful book explores the history and ongoing dilemmas of land use and land reform in South Africa Including both theoretical and applied examples of the evolution of South Africa's current geography of land use the authors provide a succinct overview of land reform and evaluate the range of policies conceived over time to redress the country's stark racial land imbalance Drawing on compelling case studies from across South Africa they illustrate not only the progress of land reform but also how reforms fit within the larger historical context of racialized land use This is the first book of its kind to fully apply geographical theory to the case of South African land reform Rather than rely on one dimensional technicist explanations to discuss the shortcomings of the country's land reform program this rich study places it in the context of bitter battles between groups seeking to exploit land policies for their own benefit

Knowledge and Change in African Universities Michael Cross, amasa ndofirepi, 2017-01-28 While African universities retain their core function as primary institutions for advancement of knowledge they have undergone fundamental changes in this regard These changes have been triggered by a multiplicity of factors including the need to address past economic and social imbalances higher education expansion alongside demographic and economic growth concerns and student throughput and success with the realization that greater participation has not meant greater equity Constraining these changes is largely the failure to recognize the encroachment of the profit motive into the academy or a shift from a public good knowledge learning regime to a neo liberal knowledge learning regime Neo liberalism with its emphasis on the economic and market function of the university rather than the social function is increasingly destabilizing higher education particularly in the domain of knowledge making it increasingly unresponsive to local social and cultural needs Corporate organizational practices commodification and commercialization of knowledge dictated by market ethics dominate university practices in Africa with negative impact on professional values norms and beliefs Under such circumstances African humanist progressive virtues e.g social solidarity compassion positive human relations and citizenship democratic principles equity and social justice and the commitment to decolonization ideals guided by altruism and common good are under serious threat The book goes a long way in unraveling how African universities can respond to these challenges at the levels of institutional management academic scholarship the structure of knowledge production and distribution institutional culture policy and curriculum

Investigating Corruption and White-collar Crime in South African Higher Education Bethuel Sibongiseni Ngcamu, 2025-10-16 Using an interpretivist approach this qualitative volume interrogates instances of corruption and white collar crime prevalent in South African higher education institutions and suggests pathways for the proactive detection and prevention of corrupt practices Contextualizing the author's practical experiences gained in the higher education sector over the past two decades this book employs an ethnographical method to explore the complexity of university systems structures and functions that make South Africa's formerly disadvantaged universities more susceptible to corruption In the midst of highly contested divisive and highly politicized ways of reporting corruption in the media chapters provide critical analyses guided by scientific approaches robust data sets and qualitative face to face interviews to underpin the reliability of proposed policy amendments intended to detect and prevent corruption and white collar crime as well as the suggested closure of loop holes that make the sector vulnerable to and known for a high level of criminality Making a substantial contribution to broader academic debate around corruption and university management internationally this book will be of interest to researchers and postgraduate students in the field of higher education higher education management and administration and education policy and politics Policy makers in both the Global South and North are also likely to benefit from this book

Sustainable Social Housing Development in BRICS+ Countries Soraya Beukes, Marzieh Asaadi, Pfano Mashau, Marina G. Shilina, Nazreen Shaik-Peremanov, 2025-08-07 This book serves as a comprehensive examination of the challenges and best practices encompassing access to adequate housing in BRICS nations It provides insights into the initiatives that can empower BRICS countries to build resilient inclusive sustainable cities and communities for the future relevant to the UN SDG 11 The book is written in a non technical style in order to be accessible to various actors including non specialists In addition it takes into account perspectives from various stakeholders including governments NGOs academic institutions financial institutions and citizens It consults international frameworks and standards for housing including treaties declarations and conventions on the right to housing With this it also provides solutions to creating sustainable cities to realise SDG11 and thereby dignify communities with adequate housing

Mashayamombe, Ruth Murambadoro, uMbuso weNkosi, 2022-11-08 The PhD Experience in African Higher Education edited by Ruth Murambadoro John Mashayamombe and uMbuso weNkosi addresses the growing call to invest in the humanities and social sciences by exploring the nature of doctoral training in select institutions of higher learning in South Africa In the past two decades South Africa has become a key player in the global higher education landscape and dubbed the hub for doctoral training in Africa because of its developed educational infrastructure and highly ranked universities Given South Africa's positioning the contributors in this volume argue that the government donors universities and faculty have a socio legal duty to ensure that doctoral programs in the humanities and social sciences are not offered to amass numbers of African graduates but are grounded on equipping students with both hard and soft skills necessary to succeed This is achieved by offering skills training and research apprenticeships fostered in communities of practice because as the contributors show the humanities and social sciences are the backbone of society Furthermore they argue that treating doctoral candidates as equal partners is emancipatory because intellectual projects are best nurtured through collaborative learning Peri-Urban Developments and Processes in Africa with Special Reference to Zimbabwe Innocent Chirisa, Elias Mazhindu, Elmond
