Constructing Quantum Mechanics Volume Two Michel Janssen,Anthony Duncan,2023-08-17 This is the second of two volumes on the genesis of quantum mechanics in the first quarter of the 20th century It covers the period 1923 1927 After covering some of the difficulties the old quantum theory had run into by the early 1920s as well as the discovery of the exclusion principle and electron spin it traces the emergence of two forms of the new quantum mechanics matrix mechanics and wave mechanics in the years 1923 27 It then shows how the new theory took care of some of the failures of the old theory and put its successes on a more solid basis Finally it shows how in 1927 the two forms of the new theory were unified first through statistical transformation theory then through the Hilbert space formalism This volume provides a detailed analysis of the classic papers by Heisenberg Born Jordan Dirac De Broglie Einstein Schrödinger von Neumann and other authors Drawing on the correspondence of these and other physicists their later reminiscences and the extensive secondary literature on the quantum revolution this volume places these papers in the context of the discussions out of which modern quantum mechanics emerged It argues that the genesis of modern quantum mechanics can be seen as the construction of an arch on a scaffold provided by the old quantum theory discarded once the arch could support itself

Standards based mathematics curricula What features characterize Standards based curricula How well do such curricula work To answer these questions the editors invited researchers who had investigated the implementation of 12 different Standards based mathematics curricula to describe the effects of these curricula on students learning and achievement and to provide evidence for any claims they made In particular authors were asked to identify content on which performance of students using Standards based materials differed from that of students using more traditional materials and content on which performance of these two groups of students was virtually identical Additionally four scholars not involved with the development of any of the materials were invited to write critical commentaries on the work reported in the other chapters Section I of Standards Based School Mathematics Curricula provides a historical background to place the current curriculum reform efforts in perspective a summary of recent recommendations to reform school mathematics and a discussion of issues that arise when conducting research on student outcomes Sections II III and IV are devoted to research on mathematics curriculum projects for elementary middle and high schools respectively The final section is a commentary by Jeremy Kilpatrick Regents Professor of Mathematics Education at the University of Georgia on the research reported in this book It provides a historical perspective on the use of research to guide mathematics curriculum reform in schools and makes additional recommendations for further research In addition to the references provided at the end of each chapter other references about the Standards based curriculum projects are provided at the end of the book This volume is a valuable resource for all participants in discussions about school mathematics curricula including professors and graduate students interested in mathematics education curriculum development program evaluation or the history of education educational policy makers teachers parents principals and other school administrators The editors hope that the large body of empirical evidence and the thoughtful discussion of educational values found in this book will enable readers to engage in informed civil discourse about the goals and methods of school mathematics curricula and related research
