Black Mountain Colin Murray, 1992 This is a remarkable chronicle of the struggles of many people black and white whose lives have been rooted in one district of the South African highveld over the last hundred years Thaba Nchu Black Mountain was the territory of an independent African chiefdom until it was annexed by the Orange Free State republic in 1884 By 1977 one third had emerged as part of independent Bophuthswana with consequent inter ethnic antagonisms As a result on an adjoining piece of bare veld there had developed the largest slum in South Africa Botshabelo a massive concentration of poverty and unemployment The stories told by the inhabitants of the slum in 1980 led to this book Detailed archival evidence and contemporary oral history illuminate all the important themes of the political economy of the rural highveld of South Africa from the mineral revolution of the late nineteenth century to the erosion of apartheid in the late twentieth century

Papers ,1960 The Silence of Memory Adrian Gregory, 2014-03-04 This book examines how the British people came to terms with the massive trauma of the First World War Although the literary memory of the war has often been discussed little has been written on the public ceremonies on and around 11 November which dominated the public memory of the war in the inter war years This book aims to remedy the deficiency by showing the pre eminence of Armistice Day both in reflecting what people felt about the war and in shaping their memories of it It shows that this memory was complex rather than simple and that it was continually contested Finally it seeks to examine the impact of the Second World War on the memory of the First and to show how difficult it is to recapture the idealistic assumptions of a world that believed it had experienced the war to end all wars Periodicals in South African Libraries ,1973 Use of Services for Family Planning and Infertility.
