Ella Myers looks at W E B Du Bois's conceptualization of American whiteness to argue that his writings offer powerful insights into the rewards that white identity has offered to Americans both in the past and present. Focusing on three key motifs found in his work wage pleasure dominion Myers shows that to Du Bois whiteness is not one thing but many. Highlighting how Du Bois can help us recognize contemporary whiteness as a multifaceted formation this book explores the pressing contemporary issue of what it means to be white through the lens developed by a major Black thinker

ECEL2015-14th European Conference on e-Learning, Amanda Jefferies and Marija Cubric ,2015-10-13 These Proceedings represent the work of contributors to the 14th European Conference on e Learning ECEL 2015 hosted this year by the University of Hertfordshire Hatfield UK on 29-30 October 2015. The Conference and Programme Co Chairs are Professor Amanda Jefferies and Dr Marija Cubric both from the University of Hertfordshire. The conference will be opened with a keynote address by Professor Patrick McAndrew, Director, Institute of Educational Technology, Open University UK with a talk on Innovating for learning: designing for the future of education. On the second day the keynote will be delivered by Professor John Traxler, University of Wolverhampton UK on the subject of Mobile Learning: No Longer Just e Learning with Mobiles. ECEL provides a valuable platform for individuals to present their research findings, display their work in progress and discuss conceptual advances in many different branches of e Learning. At the same time it provides an important opportunity for members of the EL community to come together with peers, share knowledge and exchange ideas. With an initial submission of 169 abstracts, after the double blind peer review process there are 86 academic papers, 16 PhD Papers, 5 Work in Progress papers and 1 non academic paper in these Conference Proceedings. These papers reflect the truly global nature of research in the area with contributions from Algeria, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Botswana, Canada, Chile, Coventry, Czech Republic, Denmark, Egypt, England, Estonia, France, Germany, Ireland, Japan, Kazakhstan, New Zealand, Nigeria, Norway, Oman, Portugal, Republic of Kazakhstan, Romania, Saudi Arabia, Scotland, Singapore, South Africa, Sweden, the Czech Republic, Turkey, Uganda, UK, United Arab Emirates, UK and USA, Zimbabwe. A selection of papers, those agreed by a panel of reviewers and the editor, will be published in a special conference edition of the EJEL, Electronic Journal of e Learning, www.ejel.org

The State of the Art in Student Engagement, Carl Senior, 2015-07-10. There is an extensive literature conducted from a range of theoretical perspectives and methodologies on the role of groups and student learning in higher education. However, here the concept of the group is heavily contested at a theoretical level but within higher education practice characterizing the group has tended to be clear cut. Groups of students are often formed within the parameters of specific educational programs to address explicitly defined learning objectives. These groups are often small scale and achieve tasks through cooperative or collaborative learning. Cooperative learning involves students dividing roles and responsibilities between group members so learning becomes an independent process and outcome. On the other hand collaborative learning involves students working together by developing shared meanings and knowledge to solve a task or problem. From this perspective learning is conceptualized as both a social process and individual outcome That is collaborative learning may facilitate individual student conceptual understanding and hence lead to higher academic achievement The empirical evidence is encouraging as has been shown that students working collaboratively tend to achieve higher grades than students working independently However the above perspectives on student engagement assume that groups are formed within the confines of formal learning environments e g lecture theaters involve students on the same degree program have the explicit function of achieving a learning task and disband once this has been achieved However students may also use existing social networks such as friendship groups as a mechanism for learning which may occur outside of formal learning environments There is an extensive literature on the role and benefits of friendship groups on student learning within primary and secondary education but there is a distinct lack of research within higher education This ebook is innovative and ambitious and will highlight and consolidate the current understanding of the role that student based engagement behaviors may serve in effective pedagogy A unique aspect of this research topic will be the fact that scholars will also be welcome to submit articles that describe the efficacy of the full range of approaches that have been employed to facilitate student engagement across the sector

Life in Schools Peter McLaren, 2015-11-17 This new edition brings McLaren's popular classic textbook into a new era of Common Core Standards and online education The book is renowned for its clear provocative classroom narratives and its coverage of political economic and social factors that are undervalued in other educational textbooks An international committee of experts ranked Life in Schools among the top twelve education books in the world

Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow Roslyn Arlin Mickelson, Stephen Samuel Smith, Amy Hawn Nelson, 2017-11-14 Yesterday Today and Tomorrow provides a compelling analysis of the forces and choices that have shaped the trend toward the resegregation of public schools By assembling a wide range of contributors historians sociologists economists and education scholars the editors provide a comprehensive view of a community's experience with desegregation and economic development Here we see resegregation through the lens of Charlotte North Carolina once a national model of successful desegregation and home of the landmark Swann desegregation case which gave rise to school busing This book recounts the last forty years of Charlotte's desegregation and resegregation putting education reform in political and economic context Within a decade of the Swann case the district had developed one of the nation's most successful desegregation plans measured by racial balance and improved academic outcomes for both black and white students However beginning in the 1990s this plan was gradually dismantled Today the level of resegregation in Charlotte has almost returned to what it was prior to 1971 At the core of Charlotte's story is the relationship between social structure and human agency with an emphasis on how yesterday's decisions and actions define today's choices
