2014 November Maths Paper 1 Grade 10:

Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice. Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education, it argues that while research generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching, the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident. The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice. In the first part of the book, four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom. In the second part, each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms. Combining two discourses, that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice, the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education, educational research and classroom practices. This book will be key reading for postgraduates, researchers and academics in education and particularly in the areas of mathematics education, education research, teacher education and classroom practice. It will also appeal to teacher educators, practitioners and undergraduate students interested in educational research.

Education in the United Arab Emirates Kay Gallagher, 2019-05-17 This book provides an overview of the evolution of education in the United Arab Emirates from its humble beginnings in palm frond huts to today's proliferation of prestigious international schools and global university branch campuses. The chapter authors are academic experts who have extensive first-hand experience of contemporary developments in the country's various educational sectors. The book addresses innovations and transformations in Early Childhood Education, Higher Education, K-12 Schooling, Language Education in Arabic and English, Quality Assurance, Special Needs, STEM Education and Teacher Education and Professional Development.

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans, but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages. Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools, which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools. The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students, not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully. The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience.

education in countries throughout the world Whilst analysing the issues associated with providing high quality vocational education and training the book also reflects on the role of colleges in widening access to both further and higher education Drawing together contributions from leading international academics policymakers and practitioners the book explores common themes across these diverse societies as well as some of the key challenges experienced within individual countries It considers the distinctive contributions that colleges can make in responding to these challenges through apprenticeships and other types of vocational education and training Contributors discuss the growing emphasis on creating more integrated systems of tertiary education recognising that colleges and universities are now expected to work more closely together and that these diverse demands can be difficult to reconcile Providing an authoritative and timely analysis of the changing role of colleges in contemporary society this book will be of great interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the areas of further and higher education vocational education and training lifelong learning and skills development It should also be essential reading for policymakers as well as practitioners working in colleges and other institutions of higher and further education

Understanding and Applying Assessment in Education Damian Murchan, Gerry Shiel, 2024-04-09

All teachers are responsible for assessing the children they teach and the outcomes of any assessment are important for individual learners schools and wider education systems Designed as a pragmatic guide for new teachers and those training to teach this book is your one stop shop for understanding assessment in schools It covers formative and summative approaches used across primary and secondary education supporting a balanced overview with policy examples drawn from the UK Ireland and wider international contexts This updated second edition reflects recent trends in assessment and includes more balanced coverage across primary and secondary age phases with a broader range of examples across curriculum subject areas a new chapter on the potential of digital assessment for both formative and summative purposes the impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on assessment in general and examinations in particular Damian Murchan is Associate Professor in the School of Education at Trinity College Dublin Gerry Shiel is a Research Fellow at the Educational Research Centre Dublin Ireland

Understanding Employer Engagement in Education Anthony Mann, Julian Stanley, Louise Archer, 2014-05-30 This collection focuses on employer engagement in education how it is delivered and the differentiated impact it has on young people in their progression through schooling and higher education into the labour market The focus is not narrowly on vocational or technical education or work related learning but on how employer engagement eg work experience internships careers education workplace visits mentoring enterprise education etc influences the experiences and outcomes of the broad range of young people across mainstream academic learning programmes The essays explore the different ways in which education can support or constrain social mobility and in particular how employer engagement in education can have significant impact upon social mobility both positive and negative Leading international contributors examine issues surrounding employer engagement and social mobility conceptualisations of employer engagement trends in social mobility employer engagement and social class access and management of work experience social capital and aspiration access to employment The book makes employer engagement an innovative focus in relation to the well established fields of social mobility and school to work transition By examining what difference employer engagement makes the essays raise questions about conventional models and show how research drawing on different fields and disciplines can be brought together to provide a more coherent and convincing account Building on new theorisations and combining existing and new data the collection offers a systematic exploration of the influence of socio economic status on school to work transitions and addresses how educational policy can shape more efficient labour market outcomes In doing so it draws on and speaks to existing literature which has considered such questions from the perspectives of gender ethnicity and social disadvantage Dry Goods Merchants Trade Journal ,1925
