I Wasn't Strong Like This When I Started Out: True Stories of Becoming a Nurse Lee Gutkind, 2013-02-25 This collection of true narratives reflects the dynamism and diversity of nurses who provide the first vital line of patient care Here nurses remember their first sticks first births and first deaths and reflect on what gets them through long demanding shifts and keeps them in the profession The stories reveal many voices from nurses at different stages of their careers One nurse in training longs to be trusted with more important procedures while another questions her ability to care for nursing home residents An efficient young emergency room nurse finds his life and career irrevocably changed by a car accident A nurse practitioner wonders whether she has violated professional boundaries in her care for a homeless man with AIDS and a home care case manager is the sole attendee at a funeral for one of her patients What connects these stories is the passion and strength of the writers who struggle against burnout and bureaucracy to serve their patients with skill empathy and strength

Marijuanaamerica Alfred Ryan Nerz, 2013-04-02 A delightfully weird journey that includes crazed pharmacists a guy named Buddha Cheese and an interstate road trip with a trunk full of pot A J Jacobs New York Times bestselling author Alfred Ryan Nerz is a Yale educated author journalist and TV producer He is also a longtime marijuana enthusiast who has made it his mission to better understand America's long standing love hate relationship with our favorite sometimes illegal drug His cross country investigation started out sensibly enough taking classes at a cannabis college hanging out with a man who gets three hundred pre rolled joints per month from the federal government and visiting the world's largest medical marijuana dispensary But his journey took an unexpected turn and he found himself embedded with one of the largest growers and dealers on the West Coast He quickly transformed into an underworld apprentice surrounded by pit bulls exotic drugs beanbags full of cash and trunks full of weed But while struggling to navigate the eccentric characters and rampant paranoia of the black market he maintained enough equanimity to explore a number of vital questions Is marijuana hurting or helping us How is it affecting our lungs our brains and our ambitions Is it truly addictive and if so are too many of us dependent on it Should we legalize it Does he need to quit As entertaining as it is illuminating Marijuanamerica is one man s attempt to humanize the myriad hot button topics surrounding the nation s obsession with weed while learning something about himself along the way These wacky accounts rival T C Boyle s fine novel Budding Prospects in showing the highly misguided paranoia that can be cured or accentuated by consumption of the marijuana plant s sticky blossoms Pasatiempo

Catching Homelessness Josephine Ensign,2025-07-30 At the beginning of the homelessness epidemic in the 1980s Josephine Ensign was a young white Southern Christian wife mother and nurse running a new medical clinic for the homeless in the heart of the South Through her work and intense relationships with patients and co workers her worldview was shattered and after losing her job family and house she became homeless herself She reconstructed her life with altered views on homelessness and on the health care system In Catching Homelessness Ensign reflects on how this work has changed her and how her work has changed through the experience of being homeless providing a piercing look at the homelessness industry nursing and our country s health care safety net

A Killer's Touch Michael Benson,2011-05-26 A PRETTY YOUNG WOMAN Denise Amber Lee was a 21 year old happily married mother of two little boys She had her whole life ahead of her until an intruder broke into her Florida home Within a few short hours she was savagely terrorized murdered and buried naked in a shallow grave near a desolate swamp A DEPRAVED KILLER Michael King a 38 year old out of work plumber was a ticking time bomb For years neighbors called the police on King complaining that among other things he d thrown battery acid in their pool and slashed their tires Denise s fate was far worse In a horrifying act of cruelty King bound her with duct tape raped her repeatedly then shot her dead A TRAGIC FAILURE Incredibly Denise managed to call 911 twice during her abduction Eyewitnesses and her distraught husband also called but a slow inefficient system tragically failed her As a result Florida passed the Denise Lee Law setting voluntary standards for 911 systems King was sentenced to death But for Denise and her loving family it was too late Includes 16 Pages of Shocking Photos

The Consumer Response to Gasoline Price Changes Kenneth Thomas Gillingham,2011 When gasoline prices rise people notice the news is filled with reports of pinched household budgets and politicians feeling pressure to do something to ameliorate the burden Yet raising the gasoline tax to internalize externalities is widely considered by economists to be among the most economic efficiency improving policies we could implement in the transportation sector This dissertation brings new evidence to bear on quantifying the responsiveness to changing gasoline prices both on the intensive margin i e how much to drive and the extensive margin i e what vehicles to buy I assemble a unique and extremely rich vehicle level dataset that includes all new vehicle registrations in California 2001 to 2009 and all of the mandatory smog check program odometer readings for 2002 to 2009. The full dataset exceeds 49 million observations. Using this dataset, I quantify the responsiveness to gasoline price changes on both margins as well as the heterogeneity in the responsiveness. I develop a novel structural model of vehicle choice and subsequent utilization where consumer decisions are modeled in a dynamic setting that explicitly accounts for selection on unobserved driving preference at both the time of purchase and the time of driving. This utility consistent model allows for the analysis of the welfare implications to consumers and government of a variety of different policies including gasoline taxes and feebates. I find that consumers are responsive to changing gasoline prices in both vehicle choice and driving decisions with more responsiveness than in many recent studies in the literature. I estimate a medium run i.e. roughly two year elasticity of fuel economy with respect to the price of gasoline for new vehicles around 0.1 for California, a response that varies by whether the vehicle manufacturer faces a tightly binding fuel economy standard. I estimate a medium run elasticity of driving with respect to the price of gasoline around 0.15 for new personal vehicles in the first six years. Older vehicles are driven much less but tend to be more responsive with an elasticity of roughly 0.3. I find that the vehicle level responsiveness in driving to gasoline price changes varies by vehicle class, income, geographic and demographic groups. I also find that not including controls for economic conditions and not accounting for selection into different types of new vehicles based on unobserved driving preference tend to bias the elasticity of driving away from zero, implying a greater responsiveness than the true responsiveness. This is an important methodological point for much of the literature estimating similar elasticities ignores these two issues. These results have significant policy implications for policies to reduce gasoline consumption and greenhouse gas emissions from transportation. The relatively inelastic estimated responsiveness on both margins suggests that a gasoline tax policy may not lead to dramatic reductions in carbon dioxide emissions but is a relatively non-distortionary policy instrument to raise revenue. When the externalities of driving are considered, an increased gasoline tax may not only be relatively non-distortionary but even economically efficiency improving. However, I find that the welfare changes from an increased gasoline tax vary significantly across counties in California, an important consideration for the political feasibility of the policy. Finally, I find suggestive evidence that the rebound effect of a policy that works only on the extensive margin such as a feebate or CAFE standards may be closer to zero than the elasticity of driving with respect to the price of gasoline. This suggestive finding is particularly important for the analysis of the welfare effects of any policy that focuses entirely on the extensive margin.
