Massively Parallel Evolutionary Computation on GPGPUs Shigeyoshi Tsutsui, Pierre Collet, 2013-12-05 Evolutionary algorithms EAs are metaheuristics that learn from natural collective behavior and are applied to solve optimization problems in domains such as scheduling engineering bioinformatics and finance Such applications demand acceptable solutions with high speed execution using finite computational resources Therefore there have been many attempts to develop platforms for running parallel EAs using multicore machines massively parallel cluster machines or grid computing environments Recent advances in general purpose computing on graphics processing units GPGPU have opened up this possibility for parallel EAs and this is the first book dedicated to this exciting development The three chapters of Part I are tutorials representing a comprehensive introduction to the approach explaining the characteristics of the hardware used and presenting a representative project to develop a platform for automatic parallelization of evolutionary computing EC on GPGPUs The 10 chapters in Part II focus on how to consider key EC approaches in the light of this advanced computational technique in particular addressing generic local search tabu search genetic algorithms differential evolution swarm optimization ant colony optimization systolic genetic search genetic programming and multiobjective optimization The 6 chapters in Part III present successful results from real world problems in data mining bioinformatics drug discovery crystallography artificial chemistries and sudoku Although the parallelism of EAs is suited to the single instruction multiple data SIMD based GPU there are many issues to be resolved in design and implementation and a key feature of the contributions is the practical engineering advice offered This book will be of value to researchers practitioners and graduate students in the areas of evolutionary computation and scientific computing
