

Urinary System

Anatomy & Physiology of Urinary System

Overview

- As the body breaks down protein for energy, nitrogenous waste- urea, ammonia, and creatinine- is produced.
- The urinary system 1) forms urine, 2) balances fluid and electrolytes, 3) balances pH, 4) excretes waste products, 5) regulates blood pressure, 6) creates red blood cells (erythropoiesis) , and 7) activates vitamin D , elevating calcium.
- Vitamin D helps absorption of calcium. (Calciferol)

Overview

- Consists of two kidneys, two ureters, the bladder, and urethra.
- Kidneys: removes waste, excess water, and electrolytes from the blood and concentrate them in the urine.
- Bladder: collects and stores urine.
- Urethra: transports urine from bladder to outside of the body.

Kidneys

- Lies parietal peritoneum, below diaphragm, each side of vertebral column; dark red, bean-shaped, 4-5 inch long, 1 inch thick; right kidney lies slightly lower than left; surrounded by adipose tissue; renal artery, renal vein, and ureter exit the kidney at the hilum; adrenal glands sit atop each kidney.

Gross Anatomic Structure

- The strong outer layer of connective tissue is the renal capsule. Beneath it is the renal cortex, containing 1.25 million renal tubules. Next is the medulla (darker color). The medulla contains triangular pyramids; the narrow points are the papillae, which empties urine into the calyces. The calyces are cuplike extensions in renal pelvis. The renal pelvis is the upper end of the ureter.

Microscopic Structure (Nephron)

- Each kidney contains more than 1 million nephrons (a microscopic funnel with a long stem and two convoluted sections. It filters the blood and processes urine by: 1) controlling body fluid levels by selectively removing or retaining water, 2) helps regulate pH of the blood, 3) removes toxic waste from the blood. It filters the entire blood supply approximately 60 times per day.

Microscopic Structure (Nephron)

- The renal arteries enter each kidney at the hilum. Renal arteries continue branching inside the kidney until blood is delivered to the glomerulus by an afferent arteriole. The filtered blood leaves the

D'Alonzo, 2013-03-09 Critical care medicine is a dynamic and exciting arena where complex pathophysiologic states requiring extensive knowledge and clinical acumen are commonly found. Caring for critically ill patients requires an extensive knowledge of basic pathophysiology as well as awareness of the appropriate diagnostic tests and therapeutic interventions. Because this knowledge base crosses many different disciplines, introduction to caring for the intensive care patient while exciting may also be intimidating. This textbook is designed toward making the dynamic environment of the critical care unit understandable and the approach to the patient both logical and successful. The book contains three components: 1. description of the procedural tasks commonly performed for the critically ill patient; 2. explanation of the most common pathophysiologic states encountered; and 3. description of specific disease entities with details of their differential diagnosis, diagnostic strategy, and therapeutic plan. This book also uses several educational approaches that we have found useful in our own teaching sessions and prior textbooks. Clinical cases introduce chapters and highlight chapter segments to emphasize clinical relevancy. As an additional study aid, margin notes highlight important teaching points and facilitate easy review of chapter content. To consolidate the principles outlined in each chapter, review questions with full text explanations are provided at the end of each chapter. All these elements help reinforce the most important messages for the reader. Study
