Educational Technology: Current Trends & Innovative Practices Dr. Sudhir Sudam Kaware, 2024-02-23. Information and communication technology (ICT) opened a new paradigm of education in which the entire teaching-learning process occurs with the help of electronic devices and supportive software. ICT provides a new form of learning named E-learning, which is gradually being accepted in the field of education. E-learning can be defined as the process in which learners learn with the help of electronic gadgets connected with internet facilities. The main purpose of E-learning is to provide an alternative opportunity to learn and make the learning environment learner-friendly. It makes the learning process much more open and learner-friendly, in which students can feel more comfortable in the sense of time, speed, place, and other socio-economic factors. This study was conducted to know the present status of readiness towards E-learning of secondary school teachers in the context of their gender, academic level, and area of residence.
