positioning the series in its historical context the nature and content of the plans are examined in detail A poststructuralist perspective introduces possibilities to utilise and apply the maps in new contexts which this thesis facilitates by providing a systematic empirical analysis of the Soviet map symbology at 1 10 000 and 1 25 000 using new translations of production manuals and a sample of the city plans A comparative analysis with the current OpenStreetMap symbology indicates scope for Soviet mapping to be used as a valuable supplementary topographic resource in a variety of existing and future global mapping initiatives including humanitarian crisis mapping This leads to a conclusion that the relevance and value of Soviet military maps endure in modern applications both as a source of data and as a means of overcoming contemporary cartographic challenges relating to symbology design and the handling of large datasets
