

The Analytical Essay Introduction

The purpose of your essay's introduction is to give a brief explanation of your topic and to give your paper direction that will be developed in the body.

You should:

Include key information about the work (name, author, publication and so on) in the first sentences.

Lead logically into your reaction to the work ending in a claim or assertion which is your thesis statement. Your thesis statement should contain a specific and well articulated point of view that will be defended in the paper.

Include direction sentences which will explain to the reader how you will defend and support your point of view by explaining the parts of the work and their relationship to the whole work.

The thesis should be long enough to give the reader confidence that he/she knows where your argument is going. This may be eight to ten sentences.

The Body of the Analytical Essay

The claims that you have presented in your thesis will be argued in the body of the paper. Make an outline using your direction sentences to be sure the body develops all the points mentioned in the introduction.

Take each point mentioned in your directional sentences and develop it into a topic sentence. This topic sentence will be the main idea around which you will build your body paragraph.

Use supporting points, at least four or five, to underscore your main idea in this paragraph. Use quotes and brief paraphrasing from the work or facts from outside sources to further support your point of view. Use proper MLA or APA documentation.

Conclude with a sentence that wraps up the discussion of this point and do not return to discuss it again until your conclusion.

The Conclusion of the Analytical Essay

You've made your arguments and now you want to tie them to your thesis. The purpose of a conclusion is to stress the correctness of the positions you have taken and to summarize your arguments as you affirm the conclusions you have drawn from your analysis.

Always express your points in different words than you have used earlier.

Be sure your conclusion gives the reader a sense of finality and completeness.

Leave the reader with a clear picture in his/her mind

Writing the analytical essay is challenging, but it can be one of the most rewarding forms of writing to master. It demands that the writer look deeply into the relationships between the parts of a work and decide how those relationships bring meaning to the entire piece.
