Reading for Understanding Ulla-Britt Persson, 1994 A book length study described the metacognitive components of good and poor reading ability with special reference to comprehension Subjects were 53 Swedish students in grade 5 or 8 and were either good or poor comprehenders as defined by a combination of a reading test and teacher ratings Data collection consisted of semi structured interviews and the recall of three texts with different structures Results indicated that 1 good readers organized their knowledge and used it appropriately 2 good readers cognitive and metacognitive abilities were well integrated whereas the pattern of functions in poor readers seemed distorted 3 poor readers were less confident than good readers they regarded themselves as poor learners and their verbal responses were less elaborate 4 poor readers decoding was often not automatic leaving less capacity for comprehension 5 the gap between good and poor readers widened from grade 5 to grade 8 as more independent reading was expected of students and 6 the younger students believed they would improve the older students lost interest in studies Findings suggest that poor and good readers differ in the way they process text information and monitor their cognitive functions Contains over 200 references in addition to 19 tables and 5 figures of data Appendixes present the interview questionnaire examples of categorizations the texts and sample student responses

Project Portfolio Management in Philanthropic Organizations Nojoud Ibrahim, 2011-12 Master's Thesis from the year 2011 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade B British University in Dubai course Master in Project Management language English abstract It may be said that we are now in a golden age of philanthropy due to the unprecedented amount of money received by the non profit sector However most philanthropic organizations are lacking in strong strategic plans and established procedures that can support sound project or portfolio selection decisions Moreover the combination of weak strategic plans and increased scale of giving is likely to cause unwise selection of projects and portfolios These projects would not be able to achieve the maximum social impact desired by their organizations The purpose of this research is to identify the most appropriate portfolio management approach for philanthropic settings The study is exploratory in nature since direct literature on the topic was almost non existent The research process uses mixed qualitative and quantitative methods to attain comprehensive results It includes a review of the current literature followed by the data collection methods used exploratory study and survey method The major findings indicate that the current portfolio management approaches do not match the nature of the philanthropic sector there is need for development of a revised approach capable of selecting portfolios of maximum social impact Moreover recommendations for effective portfolio management in philanthropic organizations are provided future challenges identified and suggestions made for future research
