5th International Munich Chassis Symposium 2014 Peter E. Pfeffer, 2014-07-18 The key drivers of innovation in the field of chassis systems are measures to improve vehicle dynamics and driving safety efforts to reduce fuel consumption and intelligent development methods In addition chassis development is focusing on enhancing ride comfort while also improving NVH characteristics At the same time modularization strategies concepts for the electrification of the powertrain and steps towards greater system connectivity are making increasingly complex demands on the chassis and its development

Developers are being called upon to respond to these challenges with a variety of solutions The Handbook of Contemporary Indigenous Architecture Elizabeth Grant, Kelly Greenop, Albert L. Refiti, Daniel J. Glenn, 2018-06-26 This Handbook provides the first comprehensive international overview of significant contemporary Indigenous architecture practice and discourse showcasing established and emerging Indigenous authors and practitioners from Australia Aotearoa New Zealand the Pacific Islands Canada USA and other countries It captures the breadth and depth of contemporary work in the field establishes the historical and present context of the work and highlights important future directions for research and practice The topics covered include Indigenous placemaking identity cultural regeneration and Indigenous knowledges The book brings together eminent and emerging scholars and practitioners to discuss and compare major projects and design approaches to reflect on the main issues and debates while enhancing theoretical understandings of contemporary Indigenous architecture The book is an indispensable resource for scholars students policy makers and other professionals seeking to understand the ways in which Indigenous people have a built tradition or aspire to translate their cultures into the built environment It is also an essential reference for academics and practitioners working in the field of the built environment who need up to date knowledge of current practices and discourse on Indigenous peoples and their architecture

School Dictionary - Completely Updated Jock Graham, 2014-11 This dictionary has been one of the most popular dictionaries used in Caribbean schools for many years East Asia Pacific at Work World Bank, 2014-05-07 The unprecedented progress of East Asia Pacific is a triumph of working people Countries that were low income a generation ago successfully integrated into the global value chain exploiting their labor cost advantage In 1990 the region held about a third of the world's labor force Leveraging this comparative advantage the share of global GDP of emerging economies in East Asia Pacific grew from 7 percent in 1992 to 17 percent in 2011 Yet the region now finds itself at a critical juncture Work and its contribution to growth and well being can no longer be taken for granted The challenges range from high youth inactivity and rising inequality to binding skills shortages A key underlying issue is economic informality which constrains innovation and productivity limits the tax base and increases household vulnerability to shocks Informality is both a consequence of stringent labor regulations and limited enforcement capacity In several countries de jure employment regulations are more stringent than in many parts of Europe Even labor regulations set at reasonable levels but poorly implemented can aggravate the market failures they were designed to overcome This report argues that the appropriate policy responses are to ensure macroeconomic stability and in particular a regulatory framework that encourages small and medium sized enterprises where most people in the region work. Mainly agrarian countries should focus on raising agricultural productivity. In urbanizing countries, good urban planning becomes critical. Pacific island countries will need to provide youth with human capital needed to succeed abroad as migrant workers. And across the region, it is critical to formalize more work to increase the coverage of essential social protection and to sustain productivity. To this end, policies should encourage mobility of labor and human capital and not favor some forms of employment, for instance, full-time wage employment in manufacturing over others, either implicitly or explicitly. Policies to increase growth and well-being from employment should instead reflect and support the dynamism and diversity of work forms across the region.

New to the LSP classroom? A selection of monographs on successful practices Martina Vránová, 2023-05-23

As Languages for Specific Purposes have always been defined as student-oriented, the rationale behind this volume is to use the rather neglected niche of the other necessary agent of language instruction and thus focus on the LSP practitioner. This turn towards the instructor has been motivated by the fact that a great number of LSP practitioners enter their jobs without previous expertise. They lack LSP education or they may not even have a background in applied linguistics. This motivation has proven valid as many of the volume's contributors have faced this particular situation in their professional lives. For insights into the LSP field and guidelines on the best practices, they must rely on their colleagues who offer to share their experience through workshops, conferences, or papers, which is what this volume provides. The primary goal of this volume is to present considerations of what challenges LSP practitioners face and should be prepared for in their jobs and to provide practice-tested methodological guidelines on such demanding teaching techniques as blended and flipped learning or tandem learning. All papers have been written by LSP practitioners and researchers in higher education. Thus, this volume provides both guidance and self-reflection. In other words, it is written by experienced LSP practitioners for aspiring LSP practitioners about how they see themselves and what effort they make to meet the challenges of their jobs. As proof that LSP practice is a global challenge, papers have been collected from many European countries, the USA, and Uruguay. Even though most papers are naturally concerned with English being the lingua franca of today, the collection also features guidelines for teaching Spanish, French, and Dutch for specific purposes. Moreover, the target disciplines these languages are taught for encompass business, engineering, sociology, or medicine, thus supporting the assumption of the universal character of problems LSP practitioners deal with.

Genocide Perspectives VI Nikki Marczak, Kirril Shields, 2020-12-21

Genocide Perspectives VI grapples with two core themes: the personal toll of genocide and processes that facilitate the crime. From political choices governments and leaders make through to denialism and impunity, the crime of genocide recurs again and again across the globe. At what cost to individuals and communities? What might the legacy of this criminality be? This collection of essays examines the personal sacrifice genocide takes from those who live through the trauma and the generations that follow. Contributors speak to the way visual art and literature attempt to represent genocide, hoping to make sense of problematic histories while also offering a means of reflection after years of slow violence or silenced memories Some authors generously allow us into their own histories or contemplate how they may have experienced genocide had they been born in another time or place What facets contribute to the processes that lead to or enable the crime of genocide This collection explores those processes through a variety of case studies and lenses How do nurses whose role is inherently linked to care and compassion become mass killers How do restrictions on religious freedom play a role in advancing genocidal policies and why do perpetrators of genocide often target religious leaders Why is it so important for Australia and other nations with histories of colonial genocide to acknowledge their past Among the essays published in this volume we have the privilege and the sorrow of publishing the very last essay Professor Colin Tatz wrote before his passing in 2019 His contribution reveals yet again the enormous influence of both his research and his original ideas on genocide He reflects on continuing legacies for Indigenous Australian communities with whom he worked for many decades and adds nuance to contemporary understanding of the Armenian Genocide and the Holocaust two other cases to which he was deeply committed Innovation, Communication and Engineering Teen-Hang Meen, Stephen Prior, Artde Donald Kin-Tak Lam, 2013-10-08 This volume represents the proceedings of the 2013 International Conference on Innovation Communication and Engineering ICICE 2013 This conference was organized by the China University of Petroleum Huadong East China and the Taiwanese Institute of Knowledge Innovation and was held in Qingdao Shandong P R China October 26 November 1 2013 The conference received 653 submitted papers from 10 countries of which 214 papers were selected by the committees to be presented at ICICE 2013 The conference provided a unified communication platform for researchers in a wide range of fields from information technology communication science and applied mathematics to computer science advanced material science design and engineering This volume enables interdisciplinary collaboration between science and engineering technologists in academia and industry as well as networking internationally Consists of a book of abstracts 260 pp and a USB flash card with full papers 912 pp
