2015 Forester Navigation Manual:

Executive Functions in Psychiatric Disorders Leandro Fernandes Malloy-Diniz, Débora Marques de Miranda, Rodrigo Grassi-Oliveira, 2017-10-17 Executive Functions comprise a range of neuropsychological processes related to intentional behavior and cognitive control. There are several theoretical models defining and explaining the concept of Executive Functions. Most of these models consider that the term Executive Functions encompasses cognitive process as working memory, cognitive flexibility, inhibitory control, and other complex functions as planning, problem solving, and abstract reasoning. Other models argue that motivational and emotional functions such as affective decision making reside under the concept of Executive Function. Much evidence supports how complex cognitive functions are related to the physiological activity of brain networks including the frontal cortex and its connections with subcortical structures. Several psychiatric disorders related to impairment in these brain networks, e.g., bipolar disorder, schizophrenia, ADHD, obsessive compulsive disorder, and drug addiction, leading to deficits in Executive Functions. These cognitive deficits affect patients' everyday functioning, worsening the clinical course of the disease. For example, deficits in Executive Functions are related to suicide behavior in bipolar disorder patients. Furthermore, these deficits also relate to obesity, a lack of adherence to treatment, and an underperformance in the workplace and educational settings. The understanding of the role of deficits in Executive Functions, including its neurobiological basis, developmental trajectories, and relationship with clinical outcomes, is fundamental to improve clinical management of psychiatric patients. This research topic includes 13 articles with interdisciplinary contributions related to the understanding of the deficits in Executive Functions and its relationship with clinical manifestations in psychiatric disorders.

Recent Technologies for Disaster Management and Risk Reduction

Praveen Kumar Rai, Prafull Singh, Varun Narayan Mishra, 2021-08-21 This book explains to governments, decision makers, and disaster professionals the potential uses of recent technologies for disaster monitoring and risk reduction based on the knowledge and experience of prominent experts/researchers in the relevant fields. It discusses the application of recent technological developments for emerging disaster risks in today's societies and deliberates on the various aspects of disaster risk reduction strategies, especially through sustainable community resilience and responses. This book consists of selected invited papers on disaster management which focus on community resilience and responses towards disaster risk reduction based on experiences and closely examines the coordinated research activities involving all stakeholders, especially the communities at risk. Many regions of the world and aspects of disaster risk and its management are covered. It is described how recent technologies will support better understanding and action to reduce the number and impact of disasters in the future. The principal audience for this book is researchers, urban planners, policy makers, as well as students.

A Human-Centered Perspective of Intelligent Personalized Environments and Systems Bruce Ferwerda, Mark Graus, Panagiotis Germanakos, Marko Tkalčič, 2024-04-30 This book investigates the potential of combining the more quantitative data-driven techniques with the more qualitative theory driven approaches towards the design of user centred intelligent systems It seeks to explore the potential of incorporating factors grounded in psychological theory into adaptive intelligent routines mechanisms technologies and innovations It highlights models methods and tools that are emerging from their convergence along with challenges and lessons learned Special emphasis is placed on promoting original insights and paradigms with respect to latest technologies current research trends and innovation directions e g incorporating variables derived from psychological theory and individual differences in adaptive intelligent systems so as to increase explainability fairness and transparency and decrease bias during interactions while the control remains with the user Passionate Work Renyi Hong,2022-04-04

In Passionate Work Renyi Hong theorizes the notion of being passionate about your work as an affective project that encourages people to endure economically trying situations like unemployment job change repetitive and menial labor and freelancing Not simply a subject of aspiration passion has been deployed as a means to build resilience and mend disappointments with our experiences of work Tracking the rise of passion in nineteenth century management to trends like gamification coworking and unemployment insurance Hong demonstrates how passion can emerge in instances that would not typically be understood as passionate Gamification numbs crippling boredom by keeping call center workers in an unthinking suspensive state pursuing even the most banal tasks in hope of career advancement Coworking spaces marketed toward freelancers combat loneliness and disconnection at the precise moment when middle class sureties are profoundly threatened Ultimately Hong argues the ideal of passionate work sustains a condition of cruel optimism in which passion is offered as the solution for the injustices of contemporary capitalism Urban Forestry Robert W. Miller,Richard J.

Hauer,Les P. Werner,2015-04-06 Fully updated and greatly enhanced the Third Edition of Urban Forestry addresses current issues in planning establishing and managing trees forests and other elements of nature in urban and community ecosystems The authors discuss why we have trees in cities and how we use them clarify the appraisal and inventory of urban vegetation and extensively delve into the planning and management of public as well as private vegetation As urban forestry continues to evolve as a profession foresters and arborists can expect many challenges as well as opportunities The continuing development of cities has become linked to a much greater emphasis on urban vegetation the growing demand for recreation amenities within the urban environment and the careful and successful management of vegetation in an urban ecosystem New ways to incorporate the highly versatile urban forest resource into the urban fabric will undoubtedly benefit the lives of its residents Ultimate Navigation Manual Lyle Brotherton,2011
