Saving America's High Schools Becky Smerdon,Kathryn M. Borman,2009-11-13 Our educational system is in a continuous state of reform yet outcomes are nowhere near what we can accept Though the search for answers is perpetual many efforts over the past decade have homed in on one feature of high schools their size If we simply reduce school size the argument goes students will gain a safer environment that can address their individual needs It seems like common sense but such changes alone have not proven a magic bullet Saving America's High Schools offers quantitative research drawn from large scale reform studies along with recommendations for federal state and district reform

The Seeds We Planted Noelani Goodyear-Ka'opua,2013-03-22 In 1999 Noelani Goodyear Ka'opua was among a group of young educators and parents who founded H lau K M na a secondary school that remains one of the only Hawaiian culture based charter schools in urban Honolulu The Seeds We Planted tells the story of H lau K M na against the backdrop of the Hawaiian struggle for self determination and the U S charter school movement revealing a critical tension the successes of a school celebrating indigenous culture are measured by the standards of settler colonialism How Goodyear Ka pua asks does an indigenous people use schooling to maintain and transform a common sense of purpose and interconnection of nationhood in the face of forces of imperialism and colonialism What roles do race gender and place play in these processes Her book with its richly descriptive portrait of indigenous education in one community offers practical answers steeped in the remarkable and largely suppressed history of Hawaiian popular learning and literacy This uniquely Hawaiian experience addresses broader concerns about what it means to enact indigenous cultural political resurgence while working within and against settler colonial structures Ultimately The Seeds We Planted shows that indigenous education can foster collective renewal and continuity
