

The Process That Feeds the Biosphere

10.1 Photosynthesis converts light energy to the chemical energy of food

Intro

1. Distinguish autotrophic and heterotrophic nutrition.
 - Autotrophs do not derive energy from other organisms
 - Energy from the Sun or inorganic chemicals
 - Gather matter in the form of simple organic molecules
 - Includes plants, protists, and bacteria
 - Heterotrophs derive energy from other organisms
 - May be carnivores, herbivores, parasites, commensals, etc.
 - Gather matter as a by-product of energy
 - Includes members of all major taxa

Chloroplasts: The Sites of Photosynthesis in Plants

2. Describe the structure of chloroplasts and indicate their locations within plant cells.

Structure

Double membrane encloses dense fluid stroma
In the stroma are interconnected stacks of flattened

membranes

Flattened membranes = thylakoids; stacks = grana
Chlorophyll is bound to the thylakoid membranes

Location: around the periphery of the cell

3. Explain how chloroplast structure relates to its function.
 - Dense stacks of thylakoids efficiently absorb light
 - Light energy is converted into chemical energy at the thylakoid
 - Chemical energy used to build carbohydrate in the stroma
4. Write a summary equation for photosynthesis.

Tracking Atoms Through Photosynthesis: Scientific Inquiry

Intro

The Splitting of Water

current

5. Explain van Niel's hypothesis and describe how it contributed to our understanding of photosynthesis.

van Niel's hypothesis

Prevailing (wrong) idea: O_2 released is from CO_2

van Niel's observation

Green sulfur bacteria perform photosynthesis

using H_2S

iii. Hypothesis: O_2 from water, not from CO_2

Experiments

Explanation

In one phase of photosynthesis water is split and O_2 is liberated
Glucose is built up from reduced CO_2

Photosynthesis as a Redox Process

6. Explain the role of redox reactions in photosynthesis.

Respiration

High-energy electrons are removed from sugar

The Book of Ginseng Stephen Fulder,1993-10 An exploration of the healing properties of plant substances The Matter of Facts Gareth Leng,Rhodri Ivor Leng,2020-04-14 How biases the desire for a good narrative reliance on citation metrics and other problems undermine confidence in modern science Modern science is built on experimental evidence yet scientists are often very selective in deciding what evidence to use and tend to disagree about how to interpret it In The Matter of Facts Gareth and Rhodri Leng explore how scientists produce and use evidence They do so to contextualize an array of problems confronting modern science that have raised concerns about its reliability the widespread use of inappropriate statistical tests a shortage of replication studies and a bias in both publishing and citing positive results Before these problems can be addressed meaningfully the authors argue we must understand what makes science work and what leads it astray The myth of science is that scientists constantly challenge their own thinking But in reality all scientists are in the business of persuading other scientists of the importance of their own ideas and they do so by combining reason with rhetoric Often they look for evidence that will support their ideas not for evidence that might contradict them often they present evidence in a way that makes it appear to be supportive and often they ignore inconvenient evidence In a series of essays focusing on controversies disputes and discoveries the authors vividly portray science as a human activity driven by passion as well as by reason By analyzing the fluidity of scientific concepts and the dynamic and unpredictable development of scientific fields the authors paint a picture of modern science and the pressures it faces Human Biology Daniel D. students who have a strong background in differential equations the theory of nonlinear dynamical systems Markovian stochastic processes and both discrete and continuous state spaces and who are familiar with the basic concepts of probability theory Gaither's Dictionary of Scientific Quotations Carl C. Gaither,Alma E. Cavazos-Gaither,2008-01-08 Scientists and other keen observers of the natural world sometimes make or write a statement pertaining to scientific activity that is destined to live on beyond the brief period of time for which it was intended This book serves as a collection of these statements from great philosophers and thought influencers of science past and present It allows the reader quickly to find relevant quotations or citations Organized thematically and indexed alphabetically by author this work makes readily available an unprecedented collection of approximately 18 000 quotations related to a broad range of scientific topics
