

11 THE CARDIOVASCULAR SYSTEM

The major structures of the cardiovascular system, the heart and blood vessels, play a vital role in human physiology. The major function of the cardiovascular system is transportation. Using blood as the transport vehicle, the system carries nutrients, gases, wastes, antibodies, electrolytes, and many other substances to and from body cells. Its propulsive force is the contracting heart.

The anatomy and location of the heart and blood vessels and the important understandings of cardiovascular physiology (for example, cardiac cycle, ECG, and regulation of blood pressure) are the major topics of this chapter.

Autonomous and Autonomic Systems: With Applications to NASA Intelligent Spacecraft Operations and Exploration Systems Walt Truskowski, Harold Hallock, Christopher Rouff, Jay Karlin, James Rash, Michael Hinchey, Roy Sterritt, 2009-11-12

In the early 1990s NASA Goddard Space Flight Center started researching and developing autonomous and autonomic ground and spacecraft control systems for future NASA missions This research started by experimenting with and developing expert systems to automate ground station software and reduce the number of people needed to control a spacecraft This was followed by research into agent based technology to develop autonomous ground control and spacecraft Research into this area has now evolved into using the concepts of autonomic systems to make future space missions self managing and giving them a high degree of survivability in the harsh environments in which they operate This book describes much of the results of this research In addition it aims to discuss the needed software to make future NASA space missions more completely autonomous and autonomic The core of the software for these new missions has been written for other applications or is being applied gradually in current missions or is in current development It is intended that this book should document how NASA missions are becoming more autonomous and autonomic and should point to the way of making future missions highly autonomous and autonomic What is not covered is the supporting hardware of these missions or the intricate software that implements orbit and attitude determination on board resource allocation or planning and scheduling though we refer to these technologies and give references for the interested reader
